J. A. HUNTER'S,
UPPER TOWN.

A THRILLING PICTURE.

That Canadian patriotism can be relied upon to support those whose efforts are directed to the stirring up of memories of our glorious past and hopes for the magnificent future which is possible because of the success of a publication that for the past ten years has been growing into the good graces of Canadians.

TORONTO SATURDAY NIGHT has always issued a Christmas Number little heralded by the press, advertised only by its merits, and acceptable to everyone because of its well-told stories and pretty made pictures. For several years it used English, French and German supplements, but for the past two years it has excelled all previous attempts by issuing immense reproductions of historical paintings, original and Canadian.

This year the Battle of Queenston Heights is the subject, a picture nearly three feet long by over two feet wide, painted by a Canadian artist and reproduced by Canadian processes in fourteen colors. The surroundings of the battle are the mountain up which our volunteers endeavored to climb, the historic gorge of Niagara, the blue distances which stretch through N. Y. State, and the mists which rise from whirl of the rapids. In the foreground General Brock is dying, supported by the arms of his lieutenants. The Regulars are charging past him, the Indians are skirmishing through the rocks and trees to the right, and Canada's hero, with his sword aloft, cries out, "Push on, York Volunteers." The picture excites that strange emotion which contains so much of patriotism that one scarcely knows whether to choke up with the coming tears or to shout with enthusiasm.

The story of the war is written by George Taylor Denison in so vivid a style that one can almost hear the musketry and the shouting of the charging brigades. SATURDAY NIGHT'S CHRISTMAS this year is incomparably the handsomest and most worthy production of Canadian art, and should be sent by everyone to absent friends who live afar but whose hearts have not grown cold when the name of Canada is mentioned. For sending to absent or loved ones in Old Country, where they know little of our history, it is the brightest and most thrilling Canadian souvenir ever provided. It can be found at all newsdealers', price 50 cents, or mailed directly from the office of publication at the same rate. It may be added that the book is crowded with interesting stories and illustrations—one story being contributed by the Marquis of Lorne ex-Governor-General of Canada.

HOPEVILLE.

Mr. Alex. McDonald, after an absence of 5 years came home from Montana to stay a month.

Thomas J. Hall after spending the summer near Toronto is home for the winter.

Gib McArthur has now moved in our town where he has the Hall blacksmith shop rental, this leaves our town with three blacksmith shops, all good workmen.

On Friday night the fire bell rung but the fire was only a chimney of McArthur's store.

The County Council Election is still getting hotter and all our four candidates to Proton are going to run, as far as we know at present.

TOM

CRAWFORD.

Thanksgiving service was conducted here last Thanksgiving Day by Rev. J. Anderson.

Miss Aggie Milne has gone to Walkerton to take the place of her sister Lizzie who has returned home.

Miss Anderson and Mr. McDonald, from Tiverton were the guests of Miss Tena Livingston last week.

As corn and straw cutting is likely to be the job of the winter, the Hobbick and Hobbick firms have recently amalgamated and are ready to compete with any company.

Miss K. Stewart and Miss Weir, of Dornoch, attended Church here last Sabbath.

Miss Cassie Boyle, who was home attending the funeral of her mother has returned to Toronto.

Miss L. McDougall spent the past two weeks in Williamsford at Mr. Anderson's.

The Stainfield Bros. had a large sewing bee on Thursday last and some good work was done. As night came on fair faces began to gather around the house, where they skipped the light fantastic till the wee small hours of the morning.

Mr. Hugh McKinnon has returned home from the west last week. As Hugh is a favorite among the fair ones his return will be appreciated.

Mr. Ford, from Hamilton, who was visiting at S. B. Wilson's returned home last week.

Mr. Hugh McDonald, from Louise, was engaged with Sandy Hobbick last week.

Miss Maggie and Mr. James Boyle visited friends in Shallow Lake last week.

Mr. Dugald McDonald assisted by Fred Schultz were engaged last week in trimming stones for the foundation of a barn. Dugald is looking ahead and does not believe in leaving all the work till the last few months.

The Boyce family passed through Crawford one evening last week on their way North East.

ROB ROY.

Mr. Chas. McArthur, we are glad to hear, is able to be around again after his spell of sickness.

Mr. Alex. Bell has returned home looking hale and hearty after spending the summer in the old settlements. Sandy will be welcome back as he is a general favorite, especially with the fair sex.

Mr. W. Young, after a couple of week's work, has got his chopper alms ready for work.

The cold hand of death visited the home of Mr. Jesse Edwards and carried off an infant daughter. The funeral took place last Sunday.

Mr. John Gray, of Bunesan, has been under the weather for the last few days but we hope he may soon be able to be out again.

Mr. Geo. Ryan, of the Corners, lost 5 calves some fine age, which have not been recovered yet.

Mr. F. McKinnon, of Rob Roy, thrashed last Saturday, which finished a dirty job for another year. His grain turned out very well considering the season.

Dufferin County Council are endeavoring to secure more territory and are stretching out hands for Proton and Dundalk. They offer to free them from all obligations on account of past debt incurred in Dufferin Co. Will they go?

A LOVELY CHRISTMAS WORK.

A beautiful Christmas work is out. It is a Christmas Edition of the Wild Flowers of Canada, issued by the Montreal Star. It is creating a furor. Premier Laurier wrote the publishers a most enthusiastic letter on the Wild Flowers publication, and it was followed by eulogies from Lady Aberdeen, Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Charles Tupper, and all the principal artists of Canada and the States.
