EDITORIAL NOTE AND COMMENT.

—Jno. A. McGillivray, M. P. for North Ontario, will resign the seat which properly never belonged to him.
—The perils of the ocean were again illustrated last week when a German steamship containing over 200 emigrants and 60 of a crew went down and all lost. She was on her way from Bremen to Buenos Ayres.
—The Globe is an enterprising paper everybody knows. But as we lifted last Saturday's daily with its 52 pages, fine illustrations on fine paper, we were forced to conclude it had outdone itself. Conservatives as well as Liberals look for it, because it is fair and full of news. Do you get it?

—We have received a pamphlet containing the Acts passed at the first session of the eighth parliament, a note inside explaining that the statutes are too few to make a volume by themselves, and will be bound along with the laws of the next session of parliament, which promises to be bulky enough.
—Hon. G. W. Foster seems to have lost what political acumen he was supposed to possess. He seems actually determined to hang on to the Manitoba School question as a rallying cry for his party! The lesson of the 23rd of June last has been lost on Mr. Foster, and we may find Sir Chas. himself some fine morning pleading himself beside Mr. Foster, notwithstanding the statements in the N. Grey campaign. Mean while the Conservative press of Ontario are "letting the old cut die," while the press of the same party in Quebec are "whooping it up" against the recently made settlement. A little want of harmony yet for a national party, but the country feels no anxiety over it since the party in power are harmonious as they are capable.

—Protection is trying to raise his head in England. Having succeeded in placing an embargo on our cotton ostensibly to prevent disease, but really we fear to protect the English stock growers, its advocates are now trying to secure a 5% duty on wheat, which would yield a revenue of $25,000,000, while only increasing the price of bread for a full grown man about $1 a year. If this duty was put on there can be no doubt that wheat would be less imported, and the total of the duty would be very much less. There can be no doubt either that bread would go up, and the consumer, much the largest class in Britain, would have to pay dear, without we fear any very great compensating advantages to the nation. For not only will there be less imported than at present, there will likely be a new class of officials to provide for at the public expense. Thus it ever has been with protection, the consumer pays the duty and a good deal more than it is not duty. The Tariff Commission here has shown this clearly, when the manufacturers, who are the consumers of raw material are asking for low duties on that raw material or none. However Britain has not yet placed this duty, and it is reported the meeting was thinly attended, though the speeches were vigorous enough.

IN HONOR OF AULD SCOTIA.

We give some further extracts from the address of Pres. Lander at the Guelph St. Andrew's gathering and regret we have no space for it all.
But in no department of literature is Scotland richer than in that of song; with the exquisite music to which they are wedded they are simply unsurpassed if equaled, and have a magical influence in keeping us in touch with the spirit and with the genius of our fatherland; and what variety they are, and how true to nature, full of simplicity, of exquisite tenderness, rich in humor and patriotic, playing on the heart like to the hand on the strings of an instrument. "Ye Rivin' are sung songs as these: "Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonnie Doon," "The Flowers of the Forest," and "The Bonnie Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond." And above them all and at all times, but especially on a night like this, is heard the quickening elevating, ennobling sentiment of Robert Burns, ringing on the ear with a voice that will not be silenced. "A man's a man for a that."
But it were needless to particularize, it is sufficient for our purpose to say that, in every department of literature, in every profession, in every walk of life, Scotland is distinguished and has had representative men worthy of being classed with any nationality, or with people of any land. But the greatness of Scotland rests not exclusively on her representative men, but rather on her people in general, of whom these are but the flowering, and in our opinion not the least on the humbler classes of society. On her tolling artisans, on the occupiers of her straw-thatched rural hamlets, and out on her lonely moors, where the peat-smoke plays swirl above the herd's auld field, where an open Bible is read and pondered and its precepts

THE CLOSE OF DAY.

The sun has sunk beneath the western sky. All tinged with glory from his fading ray. And darkness slowly lowers o'er the land Proclaiming it is now the end of day. Far o'er the distant hills the evening star Begins to twinkle through the shades of night. And as these deepen with the even's close, The star but brighter twinkles forth its light. So when life's sun has set behind the hills And evening's rays are fading fast away, Oh! may the soul through death's dark shades emerge, And shine in heaven at life's departing day.

A MUCH CONGRATULATED PAPER.

The Montreal "Witness," this being its jubilee year, has been printing ever since 18 Dec. 1846, a weekly paper of 16 remembrances of its early readers who still survive, many of which have been of fascinating interest, and all of which have been full of energy and hearty good will for the paper which has been to the writer a life long counselor and family friend. Here is one of the briefest and most practical of the contributions:
FRIENDS' HINT.
(To the Editor of the "Witness.")
Sir, I was first induced to take this noble paper by our minister from the pulpit, in denouncing bad literature and recommending good. He recommended the "Witness" among the best family reading for old and young. Shortly after I sent for the paper, and I have had over a score of years ago, I have been taking it since with pleasure and profit. The price is very moderate indeed. The "Witness" is a true Daniel, taking a firm stand for righteousness, temperance, and every thing that makes for the good of man, and the glory of the Creator. Now, I have a request to make of two of the highest professions in the land—the press and the clergy, viz., that the press send to the "Witness" some of their journals—the one to copy from their etc.; and that ministers of the gospel shall speak of and recommend the "Witness" to their people, as it is such a power for good wherever known.

PROTON CENTRE.

Well Mr. Editor, we are enjoying beautiful weather after the sharp snap we have had.
Miss Annie Jackson, Luther, has been visiting at her sister's, Mrs. A. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. McMurdo, of Hopeville, were visiting at the parental home last Sabbath.
Mr. G. Pride was sent to Owen Sound good as being insane. He appeared to be all better and the authorities thinking him not dangerous enough to send to the Asylum sent him to Dundalk Saturday evening and when arrived home seemed to be pretty well, but we hear this last day or so he is as bad as ever.
Mr. M. Lee, who has been visiting his brother in Stratford, arrived home last week.
Mrs. M. Ogan arrived home Saturday after a long visit with her sister in Hamilton.
Misses Annie, Mary and Eva Dezell were the guests of their sister, Mrs. McLean.
Quite a number of the children are suffering with the whooping cough in this section.
Two or three of our neighbors in company went out to hunt for skunks and after holding on for some time down after it and when they reached it they found they could not attack it at that quarter so they dug the hole big enough so they could get to its head and in pulling him out he seized one of the men's fingers in his teeth and they could not make him lose his hold till another one of the party about seized one of the men's fingers. Skunks are hard things to fight as it is not safe to attack them at any quarter. Notwithstanding they have secured about twenty. The man is going around with a very sore finger. He says he thinks it has cleaved the bone and now it is beginning to fester.
A stranger arrived at the house of John C. Bachelor. We think she intends staying.
MABLE.

CRAWFORD.

The fine weather of last week was so tempting that some of our men started to plough and the saying "Never leave off till to-morrow what you can do to-day" is being followed by the citizens of Crawford, who are noted for being industrious.
Mrs. N. McDougall and Mrs. J. N. McKinnon are visiting friends in Normandy at present.
A fine big son arrived at the house of Mr. Jas. Watson last week.
Mr. Sandy Hobkirk has brought a timber hunt from D. McKinnon Jr., and is going to do a rushing business with log this winter.
Mr. A. McCasin returned home last week from Dakota where he has been for some time past. Glad to see you Abou.
Miss Sarah Levellier, who has been in Toronto for some time returned to her home in Louise.
Last Sabbath we had another opportunity of listening to Rev. J. Little, who delivered an excellent address on "Foreign Missions." A full church was present to listen to him thus showing their respect to him.
Mr. D. McKinnon, Sr. is at Owen Sound at present sitting on the Grand Jury.
Mr. L. McLean and Mr. McKechnie, of Durham, attended Crawford Church on Sunday.
Mrs. Archie McLean, of Aberdeen, spent last week visiting friends on the 8th con.
The Bible Class and Singing School of Friday evening's are largely attended, showing that Mr. Anderson's teaching is being appreciated by our young people.
Miss Mary McDonald passed through our town last week on her way to Mooreburg.
The span and couple come to Crawford quite regular now-a-days.
Miss Janet Cameron, from near Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Neil McKinnon, of this place.
