THE WORLD
South American
Failed to Cure
Principles that possible.

Medical treatment with nearly all medicines, is simply to treat the organ diseased. South American medicines by the organs, and improve its curative powers, from which the body receive their supply. The nerve centres of necessity the organ own the outward evidence of disease. The nervousness, impoverished complaint, all owe their arrangement of the nerve centres to the organs. They have been cured of these in when they have become as to the skill of the eminent physicians, because can Nerve has gone to and cured there. The world have not been in the inquiry into the success of such medicinal agents and to transact the diplomatic business arising from the proximity of our possessions it is most necessary that a Minister Plenipotentiary should be appointed to Madrid. Hawaii is the country of the highest importance and

JAPAN WANTS THE EARTH

SOME OF THE COUNTRIES NOW WITHIN HER SPHERE.
Ambition: Desires of the Japanese. Jingoism to Dominate Everywhere the White Inhabitants and to supplant the Black.

As Count Okuma, the new Minister for Foreign Affairs in Japan, is energetically supported by the strong foreign policy party, and is to some extent under their influence it is important to know what the views of this party are. These are set forth very clearly by the Yumuri Shinbun in two recent articles, of which the following is a summary:
The policy of the outgoing ministry in their conduct of foreign affairs has been a temporizing one. Whenever they are awakened from their inaction they face an emergency they have been seized with panic and, true to their motto of "Anything for peace and quiet," have sought an issue from the difficulty in concession and compromise. In place of the Japanese people's requirement of the incoming Cabinet active, independent, go-ahead policy, they shall give Japan a position of parity among the nations. To those who say that the perfection of our military organization must precede the adoption of such an attitude we reply that diplomacy cannot be said to exist if its only weapon is war, and that a large field is open for the exercise of diplomatic skill before an appeal need be made to arms.

A FORCEFUL RESISTANCE.
A strong Japanese Cabinet would have proclaimed, on the day of iron resolution, the weak points in our opponents' position, and, in eventually yielding, would have managed to secure an advantage of some kind to themselves. Such a refusal to acknowledge defeat is the secret of diplomacy; it is well exemplified by the Greek Government in their affairs with Turkey ten years ago, when they saved their prestige by a refusal to disarm, persevered in to the last extremity in the face of the warnings, and the naval demonstrations of the great powers of Europe.

TO TAKE ANOTHER INSTANCE—the affair of Feb. 11th, in which when the King of the Russian Legation, nullified our benevolent intentions to foster the independence and reform the administration of Korea. We did not, as we should have done, on that occasion, by recalling our representative, breaking up the legation, and withdrawing our troops, relinquish our rights for the moment: in order to await a later favorable opportunity for their recovery, as did Russia in Bulgaria, but adopted a lazier policy, we allowed ourselves to drift with the current of circumstances from our position of independence, and our position of understanding with Russia was merely a temporizing expedient, and in the event we lost prestige at home and abroad.

IT IS SUCH CASES AS THESE which prompt us to call for a Cabinet which, by adopting an active, independent, and energetic policy in our foreign affairs, may extend our national influence.

IT IS TIME TO AWAKEN from our dream of stay-at-home seclusion and give reins to the bold Japanese.

THE EXPANSIVE POWER of the Japanese race must make itself felt eastward through North and South America, and the Indies, westward through India and southern Africa, throughout the Pacific, dominating everywhere the white inhabitants and supplanting the black races.

THE MAKING OF A GREATER JAPAN should not be limited to the piecemeal extension of our dominions. The spirit of colonization must be encouraged and encouraged by the authorities at home, while abroad legations and consulates must be established at once for the projection and assistance of our colonies.

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS for our emigrants, who already number more than 20,000 of the total population of 70,000. Every year some 2,000 Japanese emigrants settle in Hawaii, and of those who go, the majority stay after the expiration of their contracts. The growth of our influence has natur-

AN INCURABLE CURED

After Treatment in Canada's Best Hospital Had Failed.
One of the Most Remarkable Cases on Record—Ten Years in Intense Suffering From Acute Rheumatism—The Whole Body Contracted and Out of Shape in Every Limb—Again Restored to Active Life.

Ten years ago Mr. Moffat was working in the Newmarket Hat Factory. Through the influence of the damp room, and possibly some carelessness in regard to his health, he was overtaken with a severe cold which eventually settled in his limbs. For some years he was an almost constant sufferer from rheumatic pains, and in fact he was treated with the most expensive and powerful medicine then in vogue, but with no result beyond a temporary relief from pain. Finally, to make matters worse he was attacked with malaria and rheumatic fever. He was then forced to go to the General Hospital in Toronto, where it was found that he was suffering with toricollis (wry neck). During the first six months in the hospital he was under the treatment of a staff electrician, but the power was electrically entirely failed, and after a consultation of physicians it was deemed advisable to perform an operation six weeks later. A second operation was performed. The operation proved successful only in so far as they afforded temporary relief. He remained in the hospital from November, 1880, till January, 1882, and with all the modern tests and appliances known to the staff of the General Hospital no permanent relief could be obtained. He was then advised to go home, partly in the hope that the change might prove beneficial, but in the meantime gradually grew worse, and in March, 1882, was again forced to take to his bed, and those who know his condition did not believe he had long to live. At this time every joint in his body was swollen and distorted, and he suffered the most excruciating pains. He was unable to get up from his bed, and intensified the pain as though he was being pierced and torn with knives, and he was unable to get up from his bed. In this state of hopeless suffering he remained bedfast for eight months, all the while using all manner of medicines from which relief might be hoped for. Then he was put under the treatment of a celebrated Toronto specialist, but with no result. After the most exhaustive experiment failed, he determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the same time despairing of all other relief. He was continuing all other means at the time, and it was not long before there was a very noticeable improvement in his condition, and so much so that his mother, who thought he could no longer live, was only able to remain a few minutes as before. When taken back to bed he felt a sudden relief, and through his joints and spine. The next morning when he awoke the pains had left the body and lodged in his arms and legs, and he found the pain fitted from place to place in the arms and then disappeared, and he has not had a particle of pain since. All this time he was using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and slowly but surely regaining his strength. Then an invalid's chair was procured, and he was able to walk, and he was able to wheel himself about. The continued use of the Pink Pills constantly added to his strength, and then the chair was discarded for crutches, and then the crutches for a cane. At this time, Sept. 1895, Mr. Moffat has so completely recovered that he is a frequent contributor to the columns of the Advertiser and procuring a horse and buggy. He was engaged as a reporter for the paper, and he is now able to go about, and to get in and out of his buggy without any assistance, and as at the post of duty when he was called upon.

DRUID'S CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS.

The Druids had a very beautiful custom which our moderns should imitate in spirit. They cut the green trees at this season of the year and carried them into their warm rooms in order to protect the spirits of the forest and the streams and the fields from the death-dealing winds. In the springtime these spirits thus housed and sheltered went out again to reclothe the earth with green foliage, to unloose the frost winds and cover the face of the earth with beauty and bread. At this Christmas season of peace and spirit of love, we provide a home for the spirit of the tree, and of sympathy, that they may be protected against the evil times, the coldness and selfishness of the winter world, to go out again in the springtime to heal and soothe and bless.

RYCKMAN'S KOOTENAY CURE
A Lost Voice Restored—Unexpected De-liverance—Praise Given Where Praise Was Due.

Dear Sir,—You must have found it strangely ungrateful on our part never to have thanked you for the Kootenay Cure you were so kind as to send us last winter. The fact is we had it a long time before we knew to whom we were indebted, and which we are happy to be able to announce to all great singers. One of our sisters who sings in our choir took the Grippus last December. She was ill a long time, and it specially affected the bronchial tubes and, although she recovered slowly, she continued weak. Her voice, however, remained so husky that she had to give up singing altogether. About two weeks ago she began to try the Kootenay Cure, and, besides feeling stronger, finds her voice coming back so quickly that she is already able to sing short pieces.

A SATISFACTORY TEST.

A few days ago the Toronto Esplanade of the Fire Underwriters' Chemical Compartment Fire-Pail, manufactured by Messrs. John Martin, Sons & Co., Montreal, was used in a very successful test. It was set on fire, and when burning fiercely the flames were completely extinguished with the contents of the Fire Pail. Similarly successful tests have also been recently made in Montreal and Quebec, and both branches of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association have strongly recommended the use of these pails in factories, warehouses and other buildings.

WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD
Is the Testimony of Frank S. Emerick of Alvinston, Ont.—Says South American Kidney Cure Saved His Life—It Relieves in Six Hours.

"For two years I was greatly troubled with kidney disease. I suffered intense pain, and frequently was unable to work. I doctored at intervals, but got little or no relief. I began to grow worse, and the pains were frequent and intense. About this time I saw South American Kidney Cure advertised as a speedy relief for all kidney troubles. I purchased a bottle, and it gave me wonderful relief in a few hours. I improved steadily, and after taking four bottles I am completely cured. I consider it worth its weight in gold, for it assuredly saved my life."

Mrs. F. It has indeed proved a wonderful cure in my case. I have spent thousands of dollars in doctors' bills and medicines without avail. Five bottles of this wonder-worker has cured all pain.
