The theory that one cannot afford he must increase his output in proportion to the increased cost of labor, just as the manufacturer does, and his profits are increased in proportion. In every line of production, whether it is making nails, shoes, rails or mauls, planters or drills, wagons or buggies, the maker who hires no help increases his own labor, and limits his output. If he has the business talent to increase his sales, to keep pace with his possible output, he soons finds that he can employ more men and increase his business and at the same time relieve himself of the drudgery that a cheaper TSSUER of Marriage Licenses. A FRIENDSHIP CUSHION

To those who have a desire for unique possessions, and do not mind a little trouble in the acquisition, a friendship cushion becomes a very delightful thing to own. Procure your scraps of silk or linen, and lay out the design for your pillow cover. This is the most reliable plan, although you can request your friends, if you wish, to please themselves in selecting some scraps of silk for this purpose. If you provide them, however, you can have the pillow pleasing in its representing some definite design, rather than being one of crazy patches. Request your friends to work their monograms, names, or favorite motto and the date upon the silk, and when returned proceed to put them to-

A friendship quilt may also be made in a similar manner. While speaking of quilts, it might be well to mention the paper quilt at this season. Paper is a great protection from cold. If you will spread a newspaper over your garden flowers, on cool fall nights, you know, it will shield them from even very severe frosts. A quilt made of layers of all the time you are lowering the temperature. Cream is treated in this of mind until revived by the rumour of some pretty, washable stuff, and well quilted will be found a positive boon on cold nights. A great deal of warmth will be found, without the wearisome
