DRUMORE.

D. McKinnon, of Farewell, and John Scott, of Greenside, spent a few pleasant hours one evening lately at J.

We notice that Mr. Reily, of Varney, has moved onto the Pitt farm last week Peter Moody had a successful wood wood also a pleasant little dance in the | making. evening as a sort of winding up affair for the winter.

Wm. Hay had an attack of la grippe last week, but is coming around again, There is a general moving in our village this spring. Jas. Wetton, who has been residing in the house belonging to Dr. Sneath has moved on to his farm in Proton, and Thos, Acheson has mov-'ed into the Dr's, house, and George Acheson has moved up near Sacket's Corner. It is said that Neil McLean, of Priceville vicinity, moves into the village soon.

It is reported one of our go-a-head farmers, Angus McDonald, east of here. has purchased another 50 acres, the old Nichol farm. It is for you Lachie.

Our genial villager, R. Renwick seems to be in pretty good twist this spring Having had a very successful winter in his line of business and having yet a good stock of saw logs in his yard and the amount of chopping done is large as the farmers this winter have feed pretty much all of their course grains to stock.

We are told that Jas. Marshall, of Boothville, has put in a new chopper in his mill lately which he says works well. J. Wilson, who has been at the Guel; h Dairy School during the past term is now home and speaks in high favor of the work done at the College. He is now a full fledged dairyman, making both butter and cheese.

Mr. McVicar exchanged pulpits with Mr. Miller, of Holstein, on Sunday

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mulock, March 27th, '97.

Mr. Editor : While perusing your last issue, I noticed in your Mulock correspondence an item that seems to me to need correcting. Now in behalf of the male part of the load that went to the Glenelg Soiree from here and for the benefit of your misinformed readers, I wish to say that the liberal Yankee did not pay for the crowd. These are his own words and more than that there were others who helped to pay for the load.

Your correspondent ended up by giving what he termed some good advice. namely: "Paddle your own canoe after this." We think his advice like his information is somewhat hazy. We fail to see the point. We ask your correspondent to apply his own good advice to himself, and paddle his own canoe in future; at least to have himself more correctly informed $2,000,000 before taking up his pen and not to insert anything in his items that seasons quite so much of meaness, I ask you to kindly meet this in your next issue.

John Williams.
