

DURHAM'S CELEBRATION.

When is it to be? We have no lack of prominent days. May 24th and July 1st are always in order, and this year we have in addition the 22nd of June. We think it too bad if one of these days is not utilized to give vent to the latent loyalty of our town and district. Let an effort be put forth and a long pull, a strong pull and a pull altogether be made to have a successful day. Let every turnip be in by the 22nd June, and let country and town unite at 4 p. m. on June 22nd to swell the loyal song that will girdle the earth that day. A program has actually been arranged to include all British possessions, the Fiji Islands, from their position, are the first to take up the strain their 4 p. m., being about 4 a. m. at Windsor, and from these lonely islands the song will take its way westward over Asia, Africa, Europe, and America the last strain of the day being sung in Canada at Victoria B. C. Victoria's 4 p. m. of the 22nd will correspond with Windsor's 1 a. m. of the 23rd and thus our Gracious Queen will be conscious that from early morning till midnight and after the song-prayer will go up from millions of loyal lips.

The citizens, the fraternal Societies, the schools, the band, the fire brigade should all unite in loyal procession and make it an occasion worth remembering.

Not a day can be lost, a committee should be appointed at once, and all preliminary steps taken.

Who will move?

JUBILEE LITERATURE.

We have lately come into possession of a quaint facsimile copy of the London "Sun" published on June 28, 1838 as a coronation number to celebrate the crowning of our most Gracious and now revered sovereign Queen Victoria. It was printed in Gold and is filled with interesting descriptions of the Coronation Services, the procession, the rejoicings, etc., etc., all showing the glad life of the nation 60 years ago in the possession of a loved and honored maiden queen of 19 years.

Now, in these latter days, we, who have seen her take her way through life as wife and widow, as mother and Queen, who in every detail of womanhood has won our respect and admiration as well as that of the world, are preparing to celebrate the 60th year of her reign.

A much wider realm now honors the Queen, gray haired men remember no other sovereign, and at such a unique time, we intend to have some reminiscence literature for readers of the REVIEW taken from this old publication and elsewhere, that will in a small way be our tribute to the Diamond Jubilee celebration.

We give this week the following verses as an introduction:

THE CORONATION DAY.

All hail, Queen Victoria! all hail to this day,
So teeming with promise—we welcome it here!
As the bright stream of glory pursues its glad way
And the blessing of thousands ascends in that clear

But if thousands on thousands are happy before thee,
Saluting thy favors, and catching thy smiles:
Ours! think of the millions of hearts that adore thee—
For a day is a Jubilee over the isles!

Not alone o'er the isles—but Hindostan afar
Doth our jubilee spread—in the West, the poor slave,
As he prays for thy mercy, "fair Liberty's star"
"Be the Queen of the East, as the Queen of the brave."

Let the African joy, for his freedom is nigh:
Our Queen would not reign but our happy and free!

Let that thunder attest it—your banner on high—
The Banner of Glory o'er land and o'er sea!
Be witness, ye Nations! the homage we pay,
The pride that we feel, and the love we declare:
Nor the Queen of our hearts is, on this happy day,
Not alone of the brave—but THE QUEEN OF THE FAIR.

Nor can chivalry boast, in the rolls of renown,
A scene such as this—for old Time stands apart,
While the Crown of her PEOPLE VICTORIA puts on,
All radiant with beauty—and pure as her heart,
Then fill up a bumper to honor THE QUEEN,
Our hands and our hearts in devotion we give,
And our children, while weeping with joy o'er this scene,
Shall pray, God bless VICTORIA! and long may she live.

We are informed that the ladies do not wish their company at any time. It is a shame in a country like ours on a public high way that young ladies cannot go along the road from church without being followed by a certain class of young men and have to use their parasols and mud to protect themselves.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR—Some time ago a budget of news appeared in REVIEW and Chronicle, evidently from the same pen though differing slightly, one of the items in the Chronicle being of a scandalous lying nature. Again we notice the same smart young man writes another item but in a milder strain, he gets off by saying he mentioned no particular name. Now my dear sir, you have got to have the protection of the editors and have not the manliness to meet me and apologize for your dirty work, and if the writer of that article in the Chronicle of April 1st wants to know the writer of these lines just call at the REVIEW Office and you can have my name for the asking as neither the Editor of Chronicle or REVIEW has given me yours.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

The Nelson, of Normanby, Case.

A court of more than usual interest was held Tuesday by J. P's. Calder and Meckler. The afternoon and evening up to 11 o'clock saw the case proceed as witness after witness gave evidence in some cases very unwillingly.

It will be remembered that last fall Wm. Nelson, a well known and respected and supposed to be well-to-do farmer became embarrassed financially and in the unwelcome distraction of pressing creditors disappeared for a time. He came back, but the estate proved to be so involved with mortgages of one kind and another, granted in irregular ways that there has been no way out, and now it has been made a crown case, County Crown Attorney A. G. McKay being the prosecutor.

Barrister Batson appeared for the defendant but the complete knowledge of every transaction, many of them almost plainly fraudulent, shown by McKay, and the forcible presentation he made of the facts in his possession, along with the weight of the evidence, compelled the magistrates to commit him for trial at the next assizes. Bail is held at $1000 in two sureties of $500 each.

TOWN COUNCIL AND RESTRICTION.

At the meeting of the Council on Monday night last a petition from the four hotel keepers of the town was presented to the Council. It asked for the council's mediation with the License Commissioners for the purpose of getting them to repeal the regulation just come into force that hotel bars must be closed at 10 p. m. instead of 11:30 as formerly. The petitioners were willing to accept 11 p. m. and set forth reasons why the hour was too early.

The arrival of the train about 10:30, it was pointed out made it necessary to keep open houses. Travellers and their baggage, etc. had to be disposed of, they had to write letters, even after arrival, and in other ways it was claimed to be in the interests of the town that 11 p. m. should be the hour of closing.

The Council, after hearing Messrs Knapp and Gun in support of the petition evidently considered their action well taken and a motion by Mr. Bull, that the petition be granted was carried. Messrs Bull, Whitmore, Moore, Kinnee, B. Owen and Elvidge voting in favor Messrs Sparling and Hunter the only other members present, refusing to vote, considering it not wise to commit the Council in the matter as outside their jurisdiction.

The restriction is "that the bar room of every Inn, Tavern or House of entertainment shall be closed from 10 of the clock at night until 6 of the clock of the next lawful day" and it seems unfortunate that hotel men by considering their houses closed when the bar is closed as plainly stated by Mr. Knapp.

Hotels and Hotel keepers are necessary institutions and we freely grant to them credit for public spiritedness often shown. But why should the closing of the bar close the house? It is not so on Saturday night when the bar closes at 7, nor on Sunday and at other restrictive times.

We believe that for all purposes of social or local requirements, 10 p. m. for five nights in the week, should be sufficient, and we imagine—we may be wrong—no vested interest, not even the hotelkeepers, would be injured by having the closing hour the same as all the rest of the district.

But the "Town Fathers" think otherwise they have antagonized the efforts of the town mothers and the trend of public opinion, and the budding youth of this town, if the action of the "fathers" be not reconsidered, may enjoy the brilliancy of the bar and run the risk of its temptations for an hour longer than the commissioners have put it.

PUBLIC ENTERTAINMENT.

What an Earnest and Energetic Committee Might Accomplish.

What do you think of a standing committee on public entertainment? This covers a wide field. Such a committee, made up of the live, wide awake members of our local public organizations, could bring thousands of dollars here every year. Here is a plan of operation—in outline, of course.

When a county fair is proposed, let the committee members see that it is located here. They should be on the lookout for conventions of all kinds—religious, political, labor, secret order and the like. Boards of trade are supposed to look after such affairs, but it is not exactly within their scope. A body of citizens organized for this particular purpose would achieve far better results. It would not be a side issue then.

The advantages that would result from the work of such an organization can readily be seen. We would have gathered here perhaps a dozen times a year representative men from different sections of the country. Whatever of good there is here would be widely advertised. Directly there would be the not inconsiderable sums of money spent by these bodies. Indirectly there might be a gain of a manufacturing enterprise or perhaps of several. The mere fact of a convention of any sort holding its sessions here would add to our importance as a town in the eyes of our neighbors.

Our hotels would be well patronized and correspondingly improved. It would make a commodious convention hall or building a paying investment as well as a necessity. Our transportation facilities would be bettered as a natural effect. In short, the benefits would be evenly and generously distributed.

All that is required is a little concentrated effort. It would only be applying the principles which make private business a success to public affairs.

If our citizens and business men will take hold and push such a scheme, they will be surprised at the quick results. The details of such a plan will readily suggest themselves to an intelligent man. The trouble to put such details into operation would be small. The payment for such trouble would be swift and sure. Let us have a call issued without delay and put to test the public spirit and enterprise which our citizens have often shown they possess.

WORKING FOR THE TOWN.

The Newspaper That Booms Its Locality Should Be Rewarded.

No other class of business men take a greater interest in or do more for the welfare of the locality in which they live than the editors of the daily and weekly papers, yet they are no more directly benefited by the results of their public spirited efforts than the merchants and property owners who perhaps neglect to have their names on the editor's subscription list or fail to advertise in his paper. Here is a sample of what a wide awake editor will do for his town. The following is taken from the Jackson (Ky.) Hustler:

"If Jackson is ever a town of any considerable size, it must be made so by the timber trade. There are tens of thousands of logs being floated past here that ought to be stopped and manufactured. It would add hundreds of thousands of wealth to the county. A market would be created for beef, vegetables, fruits, poultry, etc., that would enrich the country people. Better prices would be obtained for logs than are now received at the mills below us. This industry cannot be developed here without a pond of water in which to float logs. Such a provision is indispensable. The mills must be able to handle their logs at any season of the year. This necessity for a high dam makes the need of a bridge still greater. It is already great enough, but the raising of a dam to furnish a pool for the mill men increases it. The time has come when the progress of both the town and county is greatly retarded by the lack of a bridge over the river at this place. We have always believed that it would subserve the best interest of Broadbent county for the court of magistrates to build this bridge and throw it open to the world free of charge, and thus make it the people's highway. Let the magistrates be called together and act on this momentous question."

If the people of Jackson do not appreciate such alertness for the public welfare, it is to their own discredit.

It Will Be a Costly Lesson.

In Lincoln, Neb., there is a firm of smart business men who advertised so liberally last year that they have been compelled to move into a larger and more commodious store. Since their change trade has increased so fast that they are now confident that no more advertising is needed.

Next year some other firm will have secured a still bigger trade and store by advertising, and our friends of today will be forgotten. Then they will begin to advertise again and learn, when too late, that it takes a long time to get up steam when the fire has been once allowed to go out.—Printers' Ink.

Build Iron Bridges.

Wrought iron and steel are rapidly displacing wood in the construction of all important bridges, and even for short span bridges on country roads these metals are largely employed because of their greater strength and durability, better appearance and the sound economy shown by every public officer who erects a safe and permanent structure in place of a doubtful and temporary one.—I. B. Potter.

Howells on Vacant Lots.

William Dean Howells, in one of his "Letters From an Altruistic Traveller," complains of the unsightliness of vacant lots. His protest is well founded, and if heeded would have a practical value. An unoccupied square in the center of a business district should be neatly fenced and kept free from tin cans and such refuse. Real estate owners could well bear this slight burden.
