EIR GROWING POPULARITY AND THEIR FUTURE. vantages of Their Use - What Has Been Done to Replace the Horse in England

If one can judge truly of the trend might be called a motor buggy, lilt of human preferences by the manner in which France, and particularly Paris, price in London is about $650. Caris taking to the automobile or horseless riages which are built to take the places carriage, the world is a step nearer the of those now in regular service drawn era when most muscular labor, wheth- by horses are, however, much larger,

This July 1, and the last 500 were to be added begins by showing a four-horse motor at that date, or as soon after as they complete with wheels and all other could be made ready. How many there are in all France, it would be difficult can be built any style of body and to compute from any information top from a two-seated cab or dog cart which is at hand in this country, but it is known that there are thousands and there is a public service of such phaetons, £331 and £335; wagonettes carriages in Rouen, in Lyons, and in £335; victorias, £330, and parcels vans that in a great many of the smaller £325. cities. From France the use of these new vehicles has spread into Germany, where it is of considerable consequence, and now England is full of interest for the horseless carriages and New York is learning to use and like them.

The use of these carriages has been almost a counterpart of that of the bicycle, as far as its geographical history is concerned, and there seems to be good reason to believe that

THE NEW CRAZE will spread just as did that for the wheel, until the horseless carriage will be in common use in every part of the civilized world. As in the case of the wheel, it seems as if the one thing needed to make the new vehicle practicable and convenient for common use is set ingenuity to work in perfecting it

Tradesmen could keep their delivery wagons on the premises with their business. When the wagons were on the street they would occupy in length only half the space required for a horse and wagon, and traffic would be less congested. The noise of horses' ironclad hoofs on paved streets would be abolished and the greatest source of fouling the streets would be removed.

The manufacturers of England and the Continent advertise many styles, or self-propelled vehicles, ranging all the way from bicycles and tricycles for one or two riders, to passenger omnibuses Two Clever Boys in Los Angeles Communi and heavy freight vans. These may at once be divided into three general classes according to their sources of power. There are the steam-driven carriages, those driven by naptha, kerteene, or gas, and those which use

A square, ventilated box, carried mostly by the hind wheels, holds the storage battery cells, and the driver's seat is over this, so that he overlooks the cab top. The passengers are shut in by a double hinged wooden apron, which the driver opens and shuts by means of a lever. The hind wheels do the steering, each being hinged just within the arm of the axie and being turned together by means of a lever which goes to the driver's hand. The tires are of rubber. These carriages are let for 50 cents an hour, or at the regular municipal rates for distance travel, and

Mr. Peter Millar Suffered for Years, and Experimented With Many Medicines Before Finding a Cure. From the Brockville Recorder.

Perhaps no prettier place is to be seen in Ontario than that at Newman's upper lock on the Rideau Canal. At this station for a quarter of a century resided Mr. Peter Millar, who during that period acted in the capacity of lockman, and was perhaps the best known man on the canal. Mr. Millar is now a resident of Merrickville, having retired from active life. To a correspondent of the Recorder he re-If such vehicles are or can be made lated the following experience: "For in such a manner that they will do many years I was troubled with a lame back, which gave me great pain at times, and caused me much loss of sleep.
