are interesting just now. Mr. Grundy is now upward of 60 years of age, and has been a hard worker in the labor movement nearly all his life. He drew his first inspiration from a mob of striking weavers, who when Mr. Grundy was seven years old, called at the school house where he was beginning his education and compelled the teacher to a unique form of enforced sympathy ney, of Maccan, N.B., says:—"I have tions, a most marvelous, not to say, instrike, which Mr. Grundy has never been a resident of Cumberland Co., credible antiquity. The rose is one of since seen duplicated. He had sometimes wondered at the tameness of labor struggles which he has since witnessed compared with what he saw his boyhood's days, but as he remembers his feeling on the great occasion, it was simply one of satisfaction that the strikers should relieve him of the necessity of going to school.

According to Mr. Grundy's description of this strike it must have been that ever occurred. In 1842 the condi- give them a trial. This included the weavers themselves and persons of every other occupation whom they obliged to leave work. The small tradesmen and manufacturers were obliged to close their places, the teachers in the schools, had to send their pupils home, and the strikers even prevented the passing of vehicles upon the highways by massing themselves in compact bodies through which no horse could be driven.

Mr. Grundy having been very young at the time this strike occurred, most of his information about it has been gathered from reading. The incidents which he remembers are principally the forcing of his teacher to dismiss school and the obliging of his father to suspend business. Mr. Grundy's father was Indies. Lissa in the Adriatic was a a hatter, having a snop of his own and employing a few hands in the town of Ashton, near Manchester. The strikers came in a large body, and it was only necessary for one of them to say: "Put out that fire, Grundy," and the hatter immediately suspended all work in his little place and sent his men home to wait for the strike to be over.

The strike was lost, however, the weavers going back to their work at the end of six weeks without having obtained any increase of wages, or any shortening of their hours of labor. A REAL LUXURY!

Looking out over the many homes of this country, we see thousands of women wearing away their lives in household drudgery that might be materially lessened by the use of a few cakes of SAPOLIO. If an hour is saved each time a cake is used, if one less wrinkle gathers upon the face because the toil is lightened, she must be a foolish woman who would hesitate to make the experiment, and he a churlish husband who would grudge the few cents which it costs.

If your grocer sends you anything in place of SAPOLIO, send it back and insist upon having just what you ordered. SAPOLIO always gives satisfaction. On floors, tables, and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans, and metals it has no equal. Everything shines after it, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

of Grocers often substitute cheaper goods for SAPOLIO to make a becker profit.
