MR. S. R. ROWE'S REMINISCENCES.

The family spent the winter at Mr. Jasper's about a mile west of Hanover while Mr. Rowe went to Walker ton, engaging in teaming while waiting the opening of the river.

Walkerton was then in a very embryo state. Mr. Rowe thinks a historical injustice has been done by calling it "Walkerton" as settlers by the name of Jasper and Bolton preceded Walker and in fact entertained him on his first visit.

Here, as elsewhere, Rowe was in demand as a cornerman and "took up" a corner on the first house in Walker- Co., and Miss Scythe Selfwill, of Seizable erton and that was Jasper and Bolton's.
