

The CASH System

ADOPTED BY

N. C. & J. McKechnie.

We beg to inform our Customers and the Public generally that we have adopted the Cash System, which means Cash or its equivalent, and that our Motto will be

"Large Sales & Small Profits."

We take this opportunity of thanking our customers for past patronage, and we are convinced that the new system will merit a continuance of the same.

UPPER TOWN DURHAM

Editorial Note & Comment.

An experimental shipment of cattle, slaughtered in Toronto, has been made by the cold-storage system. If the shipment is successful it will mean better and steadier prices for the Canadian farmer.

An analysis of the nominations shows two elections by acclamation, both Liberal, as follows: A. Evanturel, Prescott; R. Truax, S. Bruce. The Liberals have no candidate in four constituencies, the Conservatives have none in three.

It is pleasing to note that the country is being blessed with dollar wheat—or near it. At Winnipeg the other day a prominent Manitoba grain company sold 100,000 bushels of No. 1 hard at 98 cents to a big milling company in the same province.

Mack in Saturday Night, asks a pertinent question concerning the execution of the boy Allison at Berlin: "If hangings are to be private why should there be about forty newspaper men present?"

Kingston, Feb. 24.—Archbishop Cleary died here at 11 56 this morning. His death had been expected for a number of days, and his Grace had received the last rites of the church and the Papal benediction.

Sketch of the Life of Miss Willard.

"Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?" It is not the epithets usually applied to women that springs to one's lips on such an occasion as this.

Miss Willard was born in the village of Churchville, near Rochester, New York, on Sept. 28, 1839, of Puritan parentage. When still very young her parents removed to Wisconsin, and her girlhood was spent in the 'Forest Home,' which she describes as a 'queer little cottage, with rambling roof, gables, dormer windows, and little porches, crannies and out of the way nooks scattered here and there.

With such surroundings her girlhood life was naturally spent chiefly out of doors. Here with her older brother Oliver, and younger sister Mary, she tramped and fished, trapped gophers, and hunted, trained a cow to the saddle when circumstances would not allow her to have a horse, fought prairie fires, and met her first great trial, only at the age of about sixteen, when she was suddenly called in to 'dress up' for company coming from the east, who were in danger of being shocked by such a 'tomboy.'

Physically delicate as an infant she was very precocious in mind. She could talk quite wisely at fourteen months, though she could not walk till she was two years of age. When she was about three years old the family spent some time in Oberlin, Ohio, the seat of the famous University and then she would, many a time, her mother relates, be seen perched on the well-curb or gate-post imitating the gestures of some bright young sophomore who was 'laying it off' for her amusement.

HER LITERARY INCLINATIONS. She was passionately fond of books, inventive and original in all her amusements, believed in herself and in her teachers and from the first showed a strong preference for grappling with principles, philosophies and philanthropies.

'I wonder sometimes,' her mother used to say, 'that I had the wit to let her do what she preferred, instead of obliging her to take up housework, as did all the other girls of our acquaintance. She was an untrained vine, rambling whithersoever she would.'

How wise that apparent lack of training was every year of her wonderful life has proved. She listened as almost a baby, to President Finney preaching and said, her mother tells us, 'his great light eyes, white eyebrows and vigorous manner were to her like a combination of thunder and lightning. I am sure her impressionable spirit became somewhat frightened by the thought of Christianity as administered by that great orator, who was very much given to rehearsing in our hearing the pains and penalties of the condemned.'

At the age of ten years, when the children were 'speaking pieces, her favorite selection was the one beginning:

'O sacred Truth; thy triumph ceased a while, And Hope, thy sister, ceased like thee to smile.'

Early in 1858 the Forest Home was left for Evanston, Ill., when Mr. Willard became a partner in the Chicago banking firm of Preston, Willard & Kean, and in 1859 Frances graduated from the Western University, there. Three years later she was appointed professor of natural science in the same institution. From there she was called to the Pittsburg Female College and in 1866 became principal in the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, at Lima, N. Y., where she remained two years.

MULOCK.

Fine winter weather, Good sleighing to get out to vote for Morgan.

Dear readers of the Review, things are a little dull since the Millinery girl, dress makers and the Lady who got the bonnet trimmed over left our corners.

Jim will have to send his love in an envelope now.

Wonder if the Cattle Buyer has called at the School lately.

A very enjoyable time was spent at Mr. John McDonald's, Rocky Sangeen, Friday evening 25th, by his young friends of Mulock and Scotch Corners. As Mr. Mrs. and Miss McDonald are about to depart from their midst, they presented them with an address and a few handsome presents as a remembrance when they go to a distant land to seek their fortune. In reply Mr. McDonald gave a farewell address which will be remembered by all that were present. The youth, then departed in the late hours of the morning.

Mr. Peter McDougall is home visiting his Mulock friends on the Lamulak Trustees' expense. Other trustees take warning.

The young folks of Mulock and vicinity extend their greatest sympathy to Mr. J. J. Foster, for the painful accident which happened to his son James last week but hope he may soon recover.

What? Back in our midst again! Who? Why Maggie and her mother looking hale and hearty after their two weeks' visit.

Mr. John McDonald and James McEachern started for Dakota, Tuesday to seek their fortune. Safe Journey and Good Luck.

Too late! why? Our pastor Mr. Burns has married his first couple free of charge. What a snap it was boys.

Quite a number of our friends went out to hear the asses which came off in Durham last Wednesday. Wonder if the fellow back north who sold the pigs was there?
