streets attractive by sticking up evergreens, to be commended for a day or two, and then removed as eyesores as they decay. The same effort put forth in planting living trees, would by and by give us permanent beauty, without ephemeral efforts at tinsel decorations. May 6th is a good day, but any day near it would do and the season should be used. "Aye be stickin' in a tree Jock, it will be growin' when ye're deid," was the dying advice of the laird of Dumfriesshire to his son, and the good sense of the advice can not be questioned.

work, and it is generally the most factory means of consolidating expenditure. Money thus obtained, may be had at a low rate of interest, and payment being extended over a term of years, the annual rate of taxation is small. The ultimate cost is no greater than under the old system of patchwork the difference being that less money is wasted. The durable improvements obtained are at once a benefit to the property owner, the value of property is increased, and the town as a whole becomes a more desirable place of residence.

to his final resting place on Friday last. Hugh Hodgins, the deceased, was born in 1798. During his long and eventful life he has seen many ups and downs in the world's history. In politics he was a conservative. At our late Provincial election he exercised his franchise. It would be interesting to know if there was another over the century mark who marked his ballot. He died on Wednesday morning April 20 and was laid at rest in the Inistogoe cemetery on Friday April 22.—Dundalk Herald.

by her little niece, Miss Laura Boone. Mr. G. W. Jones wheeled to Harriston on Saturday and spent Sunday with his mother. He was accompanied as far as Mt. Forest by Miss Gertie Sutherland, who visited friends there. Mr. Geo. Klempf, hotel-keeper in Holstein, for some years, has disposed of his business for about $3000. Mr. Klempf, while in Holstein earned the respect of all classes, both as a man and a landlord.
