Quebec Conference Proceedings.

Ottawa, August 27th. No event of recent years has occupied so large a place in the atte.1tion of the civilized world as the Conference now deliberating in Quebec and it is most encouraging to notice that, while there is a general recognition of the many difficulties to be overcome, the attitude of all parties to the Convention is one of great hopefulness and confidence. The work of preparing the way for such a gathering has been going on for years, the persistent manifestation of a desire for a Thrashing is the order of the day, and the farmers are receiving good returns for their summer's labor. The local showers of last week will also bring the root crop up to the usual standard.

One of these will meet with pretty general approval viz:, the admission of ladies to membership as beneficiaries. This has been advocated by Supreme Chief Ranger Oronhyatekha for some time. The other change may have far reaching effects, but has been adopted as a necessity for the future. This is nothing less than an increase of the present rates, to apply only if we are not mistaken, to new applicants. With a membership increasing faster than the death rate and lapses decrease it, increasing obligations are incurred, and it is only the part of wisdom to anticipate future calls. Other societies will have to adopt the same principle, as, however successful any one society may be, it seems impossible all could continuous'y flourish at present rates.
