Synopsis

¶ The scene of the play is the mellow, old morning room at Marden House, Buckinghamshire, the residence of George Marden, a rather stubborn, old-fashioned English gentleman of forty-five, who maintains that what was good enough for his great-great-grandfather is good enough for him. About five years previous to the time of the play, George had married a beautiful widow, Mrs. Telworthy (Olivia), with whom he has been living a quiet, uneventful life. With them is his niece and ward, the vivacious Dinah, who is in love with a young artist, Brian Strange. Into this peaceful atmosphere pops Mr. Pim, with the story that Olivia's first husband, long supposed to be dead, is still living. What consternation and yet, what comedy, as A. A. Milne proceeds to straighten out this humorous tangle.
