Canadian Electronic Ensemble
To Play Free Concert at WLU

A program of "switched-on music" by the Canadian Electronic Ensemble of Toronto will be presented Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Theatre-Auditorium of Wilfrid Laurier University.

The concert, free and open to the public, is a presentation of the university's cultural affairs committee. The evening of live electronic music will be the first local opportunity to hear these sounds of our century.

An additional feature will be the showing of a short film, Shaman, with electronic music as accompaniment.

Members of the group are composer-performers Larry Lake, David Jaeger, David Grimes and James Montgomery, who all hold masters' degrees from the University of Toronto's electronic music studio. They have a varied background in traditional instrumental and vocal composition as well as specializing in making music on electronic instruments.

Using both pre-recorded tape and playing live, they will present a program featuring a composition by the 20th century master composer Karl Heinz Stockhausen, for piano and electronics.
