Noted Artist and Teacher to speak
at WLU During Festival

Creative artist Jean Detheux will speak at Wilfrid Laurier University during the Festival of the Contemporary Arts, January 31 to February 9.

Mr. Detheux will speak about the nature of perception in art, who sees what: on the open-endedness of our vision, in room 2-207 at 3 p.m. February 6.

Presently an instructor in Fine Arts in the Department of Visual and Creative Art at Algonquin College, Ottawa, Detheux has also taught at the Alberta College of Art, Calgary, and at Concordia University in Montreal.

He has wide experience in group and one-man exhibits, and his work has been purchased both in Canada and Europe--particularly by the city of Liege.

Detheux has also been a guest lecturer at various schools, most recently at the New York Studio School of Art, Queens University, N. Y.
