WLU offering a smorgasbord
for music buffs

Music lovers are in for an interesting fall and winter as the faculty of music at Wilfrid Laurier University gears up to offer a smorgasbord of interesting programs and events.

Once again the faculty will offer a "great composers" series at the Kitchener Public Library during the fall term, beginning Sept. 15 at noon. The series will continue each Tuesday until Christmas.

The series was arranged by Dr. Gordon Greene, dean of the music faculty, with the co-operation of Maureen Sawa of the library staff.

After Christmas, the series will be followed by a credit course offering, Music Literature 1, a course with special emphasis on listening skills and appreciation.
