

038-1983
Richard K. Taylor
April 18, 1983

Laurier co-op and internship
students win major awards

Five students in the co-op and internship programs at Wilfrid Laurier University were honored recently for high achievement in their work-related terms during 1982.

Co-op students in the school of business and economics alternate campus study with work terms beginning at the end of the second year of their honors program. Internship students in arts and science programs take their work terms in the summers only, beginning also at the end of the second academic year.

winners for work-related performance:

Stephen Curtis of Fonthill, the WLU Co-op work Report Award for the best work report completed by a Laurier co-op student;

Adriana Bastianon of Mississauga, Insurance Institute of Ontario, for best work report completed by a Laurier co-op student in the general insurance industry:

Susan Gong of Ottawa, The Society of Management Accountants of Ontario, for the best work report by a co-op management accounting student;

Susan Brownrigg, also of Ottawa, Honeywell National Scholarship Award for outstanding performance and superior accomplishments during the period of co-op employment with Honeywell; and Thomas Cameron of Calabogie, Ont., the Babcock Wilcox Internship work Report Award for the best work report by a computing and computer electronics internship student.

-more-

Douglas Witmer, director of co-operative education, said he was pleased with the results since competition is keen and winners have demonstrated their ability to make outstanding use of skills learned during their campus study terms.