Laurier Day on Thursday

Five hundred senior high school students are expected at Wilfrid Laurier University Thursday for the annual Laurier Day, an event that provides information about Laurier for prospective students.

Those attending will be able to set in on a number of lectures, will meet Laurier students, tour the campus, discuss co-op and internship programs and tour the residences.

In addition, there will be a career planning seminar and information will be provided on scholarships and other financial aid available to students attending Laurier.

The day begins at 9:15 a.m. in the Theatre Auditorium with a welcome from John A. Weir, president of the university.
