Laurier and Birmingham
sign exchange agreement

Wilfrid Laurier University has signed an exchange agreement, initially for three years, with the University of Birmingham in Great Britain.

Dr. Russell Muncaster, academic vice-president of Laurier, said the agreement will provide for student, faculty, and administrative exchanges between the two universities, beginning next year.

It is the second exchange program for Laurier with a university outside Canada. In 1985, a similar program was established with the Philipps University of Marburg, West Germany.
