Laurier appoints sociology professor assistant dean (arts)

Waterloo (Oct. 21) — Wilfrid Laurier University has appointed Richard Christy to be assistant dean (arts) in the faculty of arts and science. Dr. Christy, who joined Laurier in 1974, is an assistant professor of sociology.

In the new position, Dr. Christy serves as secretary of the faculty's curriculum committee which oversees academic planning, and provides students with information on degree progression and with academic counselling. He assumed the position Sept. 1.

Dr. Christy continues to teach in the fields of social change, issues in Canadian society, and the sociology of masculinity.
