

Our History

In 1910, the Lutheran Church entered into an agreement to establish a Lutheran Seminary. The majority of Lutherans in Ontario lived in the vicinity of Waterloo and Berlin (Kitchener), and Waterloo was selected when its citizens offered a tract of land on the boundary of the town. In 1911 the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary of Canada opened its doors. Facilities for pre-theological education were established in 1914 with courses leading to senior matriculation given in Waterloo College School.

In 1924 the Waterloo College of Arts, providing courses in postsecondary education in a four-year program, was established. In 1925 the Faculty of Arts, under the name of Waterloo College, affiliated with the University of Western Ontario. Waterloo College soon began to offer honours degree programs in the arts.

The affiliation with the University of Western Ontario ended in 1960 when the Seminary obtained a revised charter changing the name of the institution to Waterloo Lutheran University.

On November 1, 1973, Bill 178 was given Royal Assent by the Lieutenant Governor, William Ross Macdonald (a former Chancellor), and Waterloo Lutheran University became Wilfrid Laurier University, one of Ontario's provincially funded universities.

The Convocation Ceremony

Convocation is the most solemn ceremony within the University community. Since their beginnings in the Middle Ages, universities have performed this ceremony in order to grant degrees to their students and also to welcome those students into the community of scholars which has trained them.

The conferring of the degree takes place at the moment when the student is greeted by the Chancellor or the President, or other conferring officers of the University, and the officer says "I admit you."

As an outward sign of his or her new state, the student is hooded by a member of faculty. Each degree within a university has a hood of unique colours and trim in order that the student's status may be recognized—indeed every university guards its own set of hoods from use by any other university.

In order to recognize the nature of this event for the students involved, the University asks that parents and friends of the students participating in this ceremony withhold their applause until all members being admitted to each degree have left the dais. Students are asked to remain in their seats while fellow graduates receive their degrees.

The Academic Degrees

The academic degree is a title conferred on an individual by a university as recognition of the completion of a course of study or for a certain attainment. In Canada the three stages in higher education are represented by the degrees of bachelor, master and doctor. Wilfrid Laurier University is given the authority to grant degrees by the Wilfrid Laurier University Act.

Historically, the master's degree was the only degree offered. In the Middle Ages it was awarded to those scholars who, after a series of examinations, were found intellectually and morally fit to teach. Although we are accustomed to thinking of the bachelor's degree as the original degree, it was initially used to designate master's students progressing toward their final degree. They were thus novices or 'bachelor's,' who were given permission to teach beginning students. The bachelor's degree was subsequently established as a first degree, a position it had when Oxford University in England was founded in the 12th century. The degree of doctor, which comes from the Latin word for 'teacher,' was first awarded by the University of Bologna and the University of Paris in the 12th century.

The bachelor's degree is awarded at the honours and general level. An honours degree program emphasizes the acquisition of a broad and deep knowledge of the student's chosen honours subject, including both skill at applying the subject and appreciation of its relation to general knowledge and society. A general degree program emphasizes a balance between an in-depth understanding of the student's major subject and a knowledge and appreciation of other fields. Completion of an honours degree normally takes four years and a general degree, three years.

The master's degree is the second degree in higher education. Students complete concentrated and specialized work at a more advanced level in an academic discipline or professional area. Most course work is within the field of specialization and a research project or thesis is normally required. Some master's degrees provide professional qualifications. The master's degree usually requires one or two years of study after a bachelor's degree.

The doctoral degree is the highest academic degree granted by a university. Candidates for the degree spend several years in the advanced study of a specialized field of knowledge. The capstone of the degree is the doctoral dissertation, an extended work based upon independent research. The dissertation demonstrates the candidate's command of both the subject matter and the exacting methods of scholarship, and makes an original contribution to knowledge.

Honorary Degrees

Honorary degrees are conferred by Wilfrid Laurier University in recognition of outstanding scholarly, creative, or professional achievement or distinguished public and community service. The University may grant the following honorary degrees: Doctor of Laws (LLD), Doctor of Letters (DLitt), Doctor of Science (DSc) and Doctor of Divinity (DDiv).

*Detail of the Wilfrid Laurier
University mace*

Wilfrid Laurier University Mace

The mace of Wilfrid Laurier University was officially presented by the Euler family at the 1963 Fall Convocation in memory of the Honourable W.D. Euler, Senator and the first Chancellor of the University. It weighs 16 pounds and was manufactured by the firm of Henry Birks Limited, Montreal.

The ferrule near the base of the shaft contains ivory from a walrus tusk obtained from Coral Harbour, Northwest Territories. The 10-sided shaft, representing the 10 provinces, merges into the head of the mace which bears the 10 provincial crests. The wood used at the point where the shaft meets the head of the mace is elm taken from the bannister post of Conrad Hall, the original Seminary Building. Above this are four crests relating to the history of the Institution: a crest of Waterloo County, the Luther Coat of Arms, the crest of the Waterloo Lutheran Seminary and the coat of Arms of the University of Western Ontario.

The head of the mace is made of maple and bears the Federal Coat of Arms, above which is the monogram of Queen Elizabeth II, during whose reign the University's Charter was granted. On the reverse side is the crest of Wilfrid Laurier University and the monogram of King George V, during whose reign the original charter was granted. The top of the mace is a crown, mounted with jewels, symbolizing the authority of the State.

PROCESSIONAL BANNERS

Faculty of Arts

The processional banner of the Faculty of Arts contains a representation of the world as studied by the social sciences and humanities disciplines from individuals to societies, across cultures, and over time. The interrelatedness of the disciplines within the Faculty of Arts is emphasized by the fact that many of these images can represent more than one discipline. Laurier's colours are woven across the top and down the left-hand side of the banner. The bottom left-hand corner contains the flame of truth, representing the unending quest for truth and knowledge encouraged within the Faculty of Arts. The banner for the Faculty of Arts was designed and executed by Sally Gray.

Faculty of Science

The processional banner of the Faculty of Science represents the Tree of Knowledge, bearing many leaves to suggest the gathering together of many scholars. The blossoms borne by this tree signify the Seven Liberal Arts of the medieval curriculum, from which the contemporary arts and sciences have sprung. The purple and gold of the design are traditional symbols of excellence, accompanied by black and white, the twin constituents of light, symbolic of wisdom, and green, the colour that in our culture most potently symbolizes life. The banner was designed by Nancy-Lou Patterson and made by Isobel R. King. The banner was first designed for the former Faculty of Arts and Science. With the creation of two new faculties, the Faculty of Science adopted the banner as its own.

School of Business and Economics

The processional banner for the School of Business and Economics (SBE) is visually abstract in style, relying on simple geometric shapes, in solid colours, to convey its meaning. The symbolic dualisms of the banner's colour and design are a reflection of the pairings of aims and attributes describing the School: business-economics, research-teaching, community-society, students-staff-faculty, old values-new perspectives, think internationally-act locally. The geometric shapes of the design and the layered construction of the banner pay homage to the quilting culture in the local community.

The bold, blue/green letters, SBE, contrast in colour and value with the background and are easily read, even in low light. The background is evenly divided between Laurier's official colours, purple and gold, and the two colour areas are blended from one to the other in a scattering of small squares over the surface. The superimposed squares shift in colour from purple to blue, and from gold to white, representing the colours associated with Business and Economics. This method of blending two contrasting colours together is drawn directly from computer technology using a graphics software program that assigns one of two colours to each pixel according to an appropriate algorithm. This results in a smooth blend overall, while retaining interesting unevenness in detail. Variations in surface texture and lustre in the fabrics cause light to reflect from the surface of the banner in different ways, further adding to the overall effect. The banner was designed and made by Ellen Adams.

the Faculty of Music banner*

Faculty of Music

The banner for the Faculty of Music was designed and executed by Ralph Beney, who taught Design for Textile at Laurier. The pinks and reds in the banner reflect the academic colour of music, which was originally scarlet but changed to pink several centuries ago. The bells are universal musical instruments. As rhythm is an essential characteristic of music, the design is rhythmic, lively.

Just as most music is basically abstract, in the sense that it does not represent other objects, the design of the banner is basically abstract. Still, just as we can hear references to birds and storms and other things in music, we can imagine that the panels of the banner represent the keys found on French horns and keyboard instruments, and that the circles represent cymbals or drums, and possibly references to musical notational symbols. The important representation, however, is of the rhythmic vitality of music.

Faculty of Social Work

Designed by Ralph Beney in 1994 for the Faculty of Social Work, whose academic colour is yellow, the representational banner conveys an interconnecting relationship between individuals and their communities, constituting our dynamic and complex society.

The Faculty of Social Work's caring and warm environment is conveyed by means of an ongoing, forward-moving open system, centred on people and their needs.

Faculty of Graduate Studies

The Faculty of Graduate Studies encourages interactive and collegial learning by fostering independent thinking and self-creation in a mentoring environment. The banner, designed and created by Ralph Beney, includes the colours in the hoods and gowns worn by graduate students at Convocation. Arranged in an upwardly, forward-looking and dynamic "pyramid of learning," the interaction of the colours represents the potential for interdisciplinary study at the graduate level. The pyramid symbolizes graduate studies as the capstone of the formal learning process.

Waterloo Lutheran Seminary

The Waterloo Lutheran Seminary processional banner presents a "cosmic christology" in visual form. By Word and Wisdom, God creates the cosmos, makes a covenant with humankind as conscious members of that cosmos, and redeems creation in fulfilment of that covenant. The theme of the banner is the biblical affirmation "The just shall live by faith," which parallels the Seminary motto, "By faith we walk." The banner was designed by Nancy-Lou Patterson and quilted by Helen Weber.

The border consists of alternating blocks signifying Justification and Faith. Using the Seminary's school colours, the blocks signifying Justification combine a gold cross and a maroon ground. Faith is signified by blocks in rainbow colours, recalling the promise of God in Genesis 9:17: "This is the sign of the covenant that I have established between me and all flesh that is on earth." The interlocking relationship between creator and creation is symbolized by the cross which links the earth to the cosmos. God makes contact with humankind through the Word, Christ, and through the sacraments which are signified by the stream of blue water flowing from the cross (baptism), and by the stream of red blood also flowing from the cross (holy communion). This is placed on a field of 12 stars symbolizing holy Wisdom.

The Laurier Society

The Laurier Society is an umbrella organization that recognizes all individual donors to Wilfrid Laurier University. Within the Society there is a range of annual recognition levels from less than $100 to more than $10,000 as well as recognition for lifetime giving and planned giving. Private donations help the University to enhance the learning experience for students by funding many needs, including classrooms and computer labs, library books, visiting lecturers, scholarships and bursaries, and athletic programs and facilities.

Wilfrid Laurier University Alumni Association

The more than 45,000 graduates of Wilfrid Laurier University and its predecessors are members of the Wilfrid Laurier University Alumni Association (WLUA). The WLUA, a volunteer driven, non-profit organization, is the official body representing WLU alumni. The elected Board of Directors is representative of all academic faculties and many different decades.

The WLUA supports Wilfrid Laurier University with revenue from alumni services, such as group home, auto and life insurance, an affinity credit card and financial services. WLUA revenues help to fund alumni programs, University projects, student groups, scholarships, Homecoming and Laurier Campus, the alumni magazine.

The mission of the WLUA is:

To foster alumni interaction with the students, the University, and the community; to promote active Alumni participation in the affairs of the University; to assist in securing the University as an independent institution; and to enhance the University's profile as a small institution committed to academic excellence.

John Albon Pollock

John A. Pollock

Junior Achievement of Canada, St. John's-Kilmarnock School, University of Western Ontario, University of Waterloo and the Science Council of Canada all have at least two things in common. First is knowledge and education. Second is the good fortune to have had John Pollock as a director or advisory board member. Consider the K-W Art Gallery, Art Gallery of Ontario and Canadian Clay and Glass Gallery. While devoted to art, they too have benefited from Mr. Pollock's sound guidance on the board. So it has been with health care and environmental protection. Mr. Pollock is a past director of The Freeport Hospital, and is currently on the board of The Grand River Foundation. A strong supporter of grassroots community projects, he has served as a director of the Trillium Foundation of Ontario and has been a major benefactor of the Kitchener and Waterloo Community Foundation. Whether at the local or national level, Mr. Pollock has volunteered much time, expertise and financial support to the service of others.

John Pollock is sought-after for these roles, as well as for many corporate boards, because he combines social commitment with sound management judgment. His distinguished business career began after taking an engineering degree at the University of Toronto and an MBA at Harvard. In 1962, the young Pollock joined Electrohome Ltd., the Kitchener-based family business that his grandfather, Arthur, had founded in 1907. He moved quickly through the executive ranks, and when his father, Carl, passed away in 1978, John, having succeeded his father as president in 1971, became CEO of the company.

From its inception, Electrohome was a high-tech innovator. It was the first Canadian company to make a hornless phonograph. And it produced one of Canada's first radios. Electrohome even established the first stand-alone FM radio station. At different stages in its life the company manufactured fine furniture, household appliances, a range of special electronic equipment and commercial high-resolution projection systems that it invented.

John Pollock's father and grandfather had many challenges to face. But John's superb business acumen was evidenced most dramatically in his ability to sniff the winds of change and to adapt. With globalization, regulatory changes and technological advancement, he repositioned the company's electronics business to have an industrial, rather than a consumer focus. And he moved further into broadcasting, eventually becoming the largest individual shareholder of CTV. While many North American consumer electronic companies were unable to compete and disappeared, the shareholders of Electrohome prospered. Last year, the company sold its manufacturing and broadcast assets and reinvented itself once again with controlling positions in two small high-tech companies—Robotel Electronique in Montreal, which produces computer-based classroom training products, and Fakespace of Kitchener, a producer of advanced visualization systems.

John Pollock has shown by example that business success and a commitment to the well-being of others are completely at home with one another. He is a model for Laurier students. So, it is with great pleasure that we honour him today and welcome him formally into the Laurier community.

Francis Joseph Turner

Dr. Frank Turner is a leading social work educator, thinker, scholar, administrator and activist.

One can begin to get a measure of the man and his impact on social work at Laurier and social work as a profession from his C.V. He is the author or editor of 11 books, including the forthcoming Canadian Encyclopedia of Social Work, and his books are used in social work programs throughout the English-speaking world and have been translated into Spanish and Japanese. He was the editor of a major series on treatment approaches in the human services and was the series co-editor on a fields of practice series. He has been a visiting professor or invited lecturer at universities in Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Hong Kong, Israel, Japan, Peru, Scotland, Spain, and Sweden, and three times at Oxford University in England.

Frank Turner received an Honours Bachelor of Arts from the University of Western Ontario in 1949. He then went on to earn a Bachelor of Social Work in 1954 and a Master of Social Work in 1955 from the University of Ottawa, and a Doctorate in Social Work from Columbia University in 1963.

Dr. Turner joined the new Graduate School of Social Work at Waterloo Lutheran University in 1966, beginning a career as a teacher and a university administrator that was remarkable. He served as dean of the WLU School of Social Work from 1969 to 1979, during which he and his colleagues built on the accomplishments of the school's founding dean, Dr. Sheldon Rahn, and developed one of the leading graduate social work programs in Canada.

Other universities have also benefited from Dr. Turner's experience and vision. While on a leave from WLU in 1968, he helped establish the School of Social Work at Memorial University. In 1979, he left Laurier for Laurentian University to become vice-president, academic and later executive vice-president. Then he went on to York University to serve as director of the School of Social Work at Atkinson College.

In 1993, following the sudden death of Dean Shankar Yelaja, Frank Turner returned to WLU to become dean of the Faculty of Social Work, a role he filled until his retirement in 1994. And even in retirement his commitment to WLU and social work has continued. In his first year of retirement, Dr. Turner was the director of Laurier International and oversaw the university's affiliations with universities around the world. He has also continued his work as editor-in-chief of the journal International Social Work, written one book, edited two others and produced new editions of five earlier works.

Although Dr. Frank Turner's numerous accomplishments and awards are significant, the quality of the man is even more impressive. Frank Turner recognized the importance of international social work in the 1960s, and he pioneered the international practicum opportunities that Laurier social work students have benefited from for over 30 years. He began the process that led to the creation of Laurier's PhD in Social Work. He and others worked tirelessly for over 10 years to have the Province of Ontario pass legislation regulating the social work profession.

Frank Turner has supported, nurtured and mentored two generations of social workers. His scholarly writings and lectures have influenced tens of thousands of others. His social work career is based on highly skilled and ethical social work practice. And he has accomplished all this with a wonderful sense of humour, a wisdom about the mysteries of human beings and a constant excitement about learning.

We are pleased today to honour this man who has had such a profound impact on this university, the international academic community and the profession of social work.

Frank Turner

*"As for you who stand today on the threshold of life, with a long horizon open before you for a long career of usefulness to your native land...
I shall remind you that already many problems rise before you:
problems of race division, of creed differences, of economic conflict, of national duty and national aspiration. Let your aim and purpose, in good report or ill, in victory or defeat, be so to live, so to strive, so to serve as to do your part to raise even higher the standard of life and of living...*

— Sir Wilfrid Laurier
