WATERLOO – The Robert Langen Gallery will again showcase the talents of on-campus artists during the 21st annual Laurier Art Show. The gallery will host an opening reception from 4 to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, March 20 to introduce this year’s display of artwork created by faculty, staff and students.

The exhibition, which runs from March 19 to March 30, offers artists in the Laurier community the opportunity to display their work in a non-juried show. As in previous years, this exhibition will include paintings, sculptures, stained glass, photography and mixed-media works.

“The show always brings out an exciting range of artwork,” said gallery curator Suzanne Luke. “There’s a great deal of artistic talent at Laurier – both in the fine arts department and across campus”.

The show is an open-call, which means that any interested member of the Laurier community can submit artwork. Some of the art will be for sale by the artists.

As Laurier’s visual arts centre since 1989, the Robert Langen Gallery provides the local community with knowledge, appreciation and enjoyment of Canadian art and culture. The gallery is located in the John Aird Centre and is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. from Tuesday to Friday and noon to 5 p.m. on Saturdays. Admission is free.
