SEAGRAM STADIUM IS SITE OF REUNION

This year the reunion reception and dinner took place in the Seagram stadium gymnasium instead of the College dining hall and gym as in past years. The switch to the classy new gymnasium was heartily approved. Alumni were particularly pleased with the lack of crowding, din, and stuffiness. The Friendship Circle buffet style banquet was well received by graduates who took the opportunity of renewing a great number of friendships during the banquet. One Alumnus, smacking his lips remarked that he had not been on time for the reception because of the distance he had to travel, but that he had still been able to meet all his friends, gathered together in a circle during the banquet. Congratulations are due to Paul Wagner '57 and staff for the excellent facilities and comfort at the stadium!

We can thank our Re-union chairman for the successful re-union, fun and fellowship that excellent planning and attention to detail made possible.

College to Fill Central Position

President Hagey announced to the alumni assembled at the reunion dinner, that formal application for a degree-granting charter would be made this spring. Should the provincial government accept the application (and there's little reason to think that it won't), then the University of Waterloo will first open its doors next September.

The new university will have as its arts college, the existing Waterloo College, parent and founding institution of the Associate Faculties and university. Unlike most of its sister institutions, the University of Waterloo will have no university college. The functions of such a college will be fulfilled by Waterloo College.

St. Jerome's College to Join

St. Jerome's College, also of the Twin Cities, will probably break its affiliation with the University of Ottawa in order to join with the University of Waterloo. Eventually this college will relocate on the new 200-acre campus purchased last year by the Associate Faculties.

BULLETIN BITS

by DICK CAPLING

♦ Nineteen Buildings are planned for the Campus over the next six years. One, the new Chemistry building, has been completed. The 18 remaining will have the following functions: Arts (more than one), Residences (more than one), Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Administration, Auditorium, Womens' Gymnasium, Library, Dining Hall, Maths and Physics.

Sod turning for the Maths and Physics building will take place within several days of this writing.

Premier Frost will do the honours, and his presence demands real appreciation, for his own personal interest in higher education, and as a reminder of the continuing concern displayed by the Ontario provincial government.

♦ Sign in the chemistry building: "ANY STUDENT CHARGED BY WATERLOO POLICE WILL BE EXPELLED. Signed: B. Kelly, Acting Dean". Wow! But why just "Waterloo Police"? Does Chief Otto have an electric chair in his kitchen? Congratulations to the faculty member who believes in "locking the barn door before the beer is consumed" so to speak.

Around the Campus

Alumni members now serving on the Board of Governors are Helmut Binhammer '48, Reverend Delton Glebe '47, Reverend A. Buehlow '30, Reverend A. Zimmerman '44, Dr. Herbert Kalbfleisch '28, John Wettlauffer E48, and Arthur Zilliax '28. On the staff are Ella Braun '56, Louise Bonson '50 and Mrs. Arthur Beckman (Margaret Armstrong) '46. Additional part-time lecturers are Mrs. Donald Stewart (Ilse Aksim) '40, Jonas Bingeman E47, Reverend Alvin Baetz '39, Reverend Eric Reble, '45 and Joe Rees '57.

Before September, 1955, a number of credits were required in order to obtain a General Arts degree. The graduates of "the old school" knew a little bit about a lot of things. Now General Arts students are required to specialize to some extent by taking three or four senior courses in one subject for a Major and two senior courses in another subject to constitute a Minor.

Among the 1958 graduates who have returned to Waterloo College to take honours courses are Ronald BAYNE, Edward LOEP- RICH, Audrey FIEDERLEIN, Lorne SMITH and Les CHECK. Students taking post-graduate courses elsewhere include Sven ARNDT '58 and Marg NEAR '51 at the University of California, Bill WARDEN '55 at the University of Glasgow, and Bruce HODGINS and Welf HEICK '53 at Duke University, North Carolina.

Further Afield

Frank WARD '52 is serving as assistant minister in St. James Parish, Glasgow. David BELYEA '56 received his M.A. degree in Business Administration from New York University. Reverend Eric SCHULTZ '51 was presented with a Lutheran Brotherhood $1,000 award for post-graduate study. Alan RAYBURN '56 received his M.A. degree from Kentucky University last year, and is now working with the Dept of Mines and Technical Surveys in Ottawa. John C. HERBERT '29, former principal of Ingersoll Collegiate, is now principal of a Canadian Army Service School, at Hemer-Sundwig, Germany. Robert CLUBINE '55 and his family are living in Rock Cliffe, Jamaica, where Bob is serving as a missionary-teacher. Mrs. Robert Muir (Grayce BLACK '52) has returned to Canada after living in Germany for several years.

Marriages:

SNETSINGER, Joyce '57 to David Shelley, September 6
BELYEA, David '56 to Ursula Owen, September 27

To Robert HUSCHKA '58 and his wife, a son in October.

NOTES

BELYEA, David '56 received his Master's Degree in Business Administration from New York University.
HERBERT, John C. '29, former principal of Ingersoll Collegiate will be principal of a Canadian Army Service School at Hemer-Sundwig, Germany.
SCHULTZ, Reverend Erich '51 was presented with a Lutheran Brotherhood $1,000 award for post-graduate study.
Both HODGINS, Bruce '53 and HEICK, Welf '53 intend to do post-graduate work in History at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.
CLUBINE, Robert '55, his wife and daughter are leaving Markham where he has been teaching high school to work as a missionary-teacher in Rock Cliffe, Jamaica, B.W.I.
RAYBURN, Alan '56 received his M.A. from Kentucky University last year. He is working with the Geographical Branch of the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys in Ottawa. He's been engaged in work on the new Atlas of Canada, and is presently studying the P.E.I. shoreline for the proposed new causeway.

Alumni Members now serving on the Board of Governors are Dr. Herbert KALBFLEISCH, '28 and John WETTLAUFER, E48, professors at the University of Western Ontario and Arthur ZILLIAX, '28, Elmira lawyer.

$4¾ MILLION SOUGHT BY COLLEGE

Details of a campaign to raise $4,750,000 for Waterloo College Associate Faculties were written in a speech by J. G. Brown to be presented at today's meeting of K-W Rotary Club.

However, Mr. Brown died on Nov. 11, but Rotarians still heard his talk today. It was read by J. G. Hagey, college president.

The talk dealt primarily with the need to raise $750,000 by public subscription in Waterloo County to meet costs involved in the transition of the college into a university with degree-granting privileges.

Don't Cover Land

Provincial and federal grants do not cover land purchases, site development or library book costs. These will cost an estimated $425,000.

The total for all these buildings and equipment is set at $4,750,000.

The Waterloo College Associate Faculties hopes $3,000,000 in grants will be available for building construction when the additional buildings are needed.

Of the remaining $1,750,000, the Canada Council will provide $250,000 and $1,500,000 is expected to be raised from outside Waterloo County.

General chairman of the fund — called the co-operative education fund — is Ira G. Needles, chairman of the board of governors of the Associate Faculties.

FROSH FLOAT WINS ALUMNI CUP

The freshman float, pictured above, was one of two entered by that class in the annual homecoming float parade. The originality of thought, and the degree of workmanship displayed by class members won plaudits from the judges who awarded them the Alumni association trophy.
