

very good considering conditions. I read the service for Pastor Bachelmann as usual. I haven't had any preaching to do lately, but am booked for the first Sunday in July at Hespeler and probably for the Sunday evening of the second Sunday. I may preach there in German some Sunday this winter as I am being strongly urged to do so. I would like to be able to preach in German and I suppose I ought to make a start before I get too old to learn. You know I will soon be fifty years of age. A half century is a considerable life-time. We had a new student last week, a Mr. Snyder from Brooklyn, New York. He is a son of the late Dr. W. A. Snyder and wants to prepare for Canadian University matriculation. He is the second student we have from the States, the other being a Mr. Vorkoper from Danport, Ia. Mrs. Emilie Penckhurst, the notorious English suffragette is to deliver a lecture in one of the Mitchell Theatres to-night. Bonnie had been counting on going over to hear her, but has backed out on account of the weather. I have still about 35 cigars out of the two boxes that I got at Christmas which goes to show that I am not an over-indulgent smoker. I still have also about half a gallon of cider left which serves to show that I am not over-indulgent in drinks either. The cider concoction makes about the best and healthiest drink I know of. My wine is developing an excellent quality I haven't drunk any of it yet, only just sampled it a time or two to see what it was like. Last week one of the students, presumably one of the day students took my pair of perfectly good rubbers while I was in chapel and so far I haven't required them though I have passed several notices on the Bulletin Board about them. The last one reads as follows: "If the gent who removed my rubbers from the lower
