

here at St. John's the Catechetical examination will be held. On Palm Sunday morning the confirmation will take place. Herman will be among those confirmed this year. He has done good work and I think is about the best in his class, though I don't think Pastor Roberts is as thorough in this work as Pastor Prokelmann was.
Enclosed I am sending you a few of Corbett's snapshots, as I promised last week. The picture of me was a time exposure taken inside, which accounts for its somewhat ghostly palidness. However, otherwise it is very good.

The father of the Professor Skittle died at his home in Halifax last Monday. Both the Skittles went home for the funeral, which has somewhat interrupted the work in the College. However I allowed Principal Willison to draw on the Seminary boys for help in the funeral and things are moving along fairly well. Mr. Skittle was about 67 years of age but had been sick with heart trouble and dropsy for about a year. He was a good Churchman and a fine living man. The Skittles will probably be out the best part of this week yet. The weather has been quite cold for the past three or four days with frequent snow-squalls and sparrow snows and I have in consequence been obliged to "keep the home-fires burning," as they used to sing in war time.
I put on my last shovel-full of coal this morning, but still have a half-ton or so of coke, which I hope will last the season out. That agut that took you in in the enlarging picture scheme must have been a pretty slick duck. I think $9⁵⁰ a very fair price for such a picture. If his girl is in London she is only about 55 miles west of here I know several people in London, but have never been there, though I passed through the city in 1914 on my return from the General Council at Toledo. O. Bonnie bought herself a new dress and spring coat last week. The dress is brown
