Dear Mother:

Your letter of last week was duly received and read with pleasure. Its greatest piece of news was naturally that of Herbert's marriage date. He seems to have pushed the matter right along with all of his business energy and acumen. He has my very best wishes for his happiness and renewed lease on howe life I don't know, but I'm afraid that is about all I can give him, as I have to hop and jump in order to get along. To-day I am at home for the second Sunday this year and am enjoying the respite. Next Sunday I am to go back to Sherwood and Unionville. I am also to preach on Thursday night and Friday night of Holy week and twice on Easter Sunday. I didn't get back last Sunday night as I expected. There was so much snow that we could not use a car and so had to cross the country from Sherwood to Unionville with a cutter. We did our best to make the radial line in order to connect with the train at Toronto, but I missed the connection by about 10 minutes. As a consequence I did not get home until noon on Monday. However, I stayed with friends - The Hamanns - in Toronto, and had a very fine time. He had
