

Rebecca Kieswetter, Marketing and Communications Co-ordinator
Centre for Teaching Innovation and Excellence
519-884-0710 ext. 3902 or rkieswetter@wlu.ca

Kevin Crowley, Director
Communications & Public Affairs, Wilfrid Laurier University
519-884-0710 ext. 3070 or kcrowley@wlu.ca

APRIL 24, 2015 | 085-15

Laurier to offer non-credit course in Milton on the legacy of the Niagara Escarpment

MILTON –The Laurier Association for Lifelong Learning (LALL) is offering a spring course investigating the cultural history and natural wonder of the Niagara escarpment. The course, which begins May 6, will be held at the Milton Education Village Innovation Centre.

"We are excited to see a Laurier Association for Lifelong Learning course offered in Milton," said Sandy Hughes, director for the Centre for Teaching Innovation and Excellence. "The program has been extremely successful at Laurier's Waterloo campus for some time, and we believe it will experience the same success outside of Waterloo."

The Natural and Cultural Legacy of the Niagara Escarpment is a six-week program that will focus on the unique natural features, ecological importance, recreational opportunities and the existing land use regulation program of the escarpment. Participants can expect to gain a better understanding of the Niagara Escarpment by the end of the course.

The Laurier Associations for Lifelong Learning aims to offer high-quality, personal interest courses from experts at Laurier and is overseen by Continuing Studies, which has been in operation for 18 years at Laurier's Waterloo campus.

For further information about the Natural and Cultural Legacy of the Niagara Escarpment course, visit www.wlu.ca/lall.

– 30 –