

(3)

with a crown of thornes; and do it with all the vicious cruelty of which they are so capable.

It is with great pleasure I note that you have regained your health; and I sincerely hope you will long be spared to see the fruit of your labours both at home and abroad.

With best wishes for a joyous Christmas, and the best of everything in the years to come, I remain as ever,

Your sincere friend,