follow after them. I don't know what I will do with the long vacation before me. Already I am feeling more or less like a fish out of water. I am like the fellow that was all dressed up and with no place to go. It is of no use for me to busy myself with writing manuscripts, as I can't get them published anyway for lack of funds. I can't buy books and have read most of those in our Sunday library that are worthwhile. I can, and probably will spend considerable time in my garden; but, after all, that will take up only a small portion of my vacation. However, synod is coming on shortly and if I am re-elected secretary for the tenth time, that will give me plenty to do for a while. I already have the "Bulletin", which contains the major reports, proofread and in the printer's hands. I expect it to be out this week. On Tuesday we have our executive committee meeting, with considerable business before us, which will probably take all day to dispose of. So, I suppose, time will fly, and the vacation will be over before we know it - unless it is extended indefinitely. I understand that there is a movement on foot to close the seminary and continue only the college. But I am sure that, if this is attempted, it will not meet with the approval of synod; and so I am not concerned about that. But if the institution is to continue synod will have to make another drive for 10,000 to cover current expenses and back
