3,000 FRENCH BOOKS

COMING TO W.L.U.

A display of 3,000 French-language books, including a great variety of illustrated art books, will be on display for students and the public at the library of Waterloo Lutheran University during the week of March 7-11.

The books will not be enclosed in cases but may be read and examined by visitors to the library.

Included are books from France, Belgium, Switzerland and Canada. The books are described as having great artistic merit and covering a wide spectrum of fields and interests.

The touring show, sponsored by the Quebec ministry of cultural affairs, will not be on display elsewhere in the Kitchener-Waterloo area.

Its appearance at WLU was arranged by the university's department of romance languages, in conjunction with the library.
