Are You Doing Your Part?

Everybody must have some interest in the war. Everybody must do something to demonstrate this interest before the world.

The young manhood of the country is doing the only thing there is to be done compatible with honor, going into the service to fight for the upholding of the principles for which we are at war. Older men, thousands of them, men exempt from service according to the provisions of the draft law, have given up their private interests and gone into the service of the government, in the dollar-a-year squad. Thousands of others are giving all or part time, without remuneration when it is possible, with the pay of a captain when money must come in for the support of a dependent family.

Women by the hundreds of thousands are giving devoted services in the work incidental to the war, women who never before in their lives have had to do anything at a set time without regard to their inclination. Many others are making great sacrifices to give time to war work which has to be wrung from a day already filled with necessary tasks. Children in the schools are knitting and sewing, making garments for the soldiers and for the unfortunate people of France and Belgium. The idleness is growing rarer and rarer among women as among men.

But work is not enough. The soldier works, but there must be support behind him to make his work possible. The war worker serves hour after hour, but there must be money behind to supply the opportunity for work. It is not enough to give of our time, of our brains, of our hands. We must give of our wealth, whether it is great or small. We must give to the extent of our ability, in this way and that way until there has been supplied for the men in the service every possible equipment to add to their effectiveness and safety, and every possible provision for their health and comfort.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of Winnetka Weekly Talk, published weekly at Winnetka for April 1st, 1918.

State of Illinois, }
 County of Cook, } ss.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Thomas J. Williams who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of Winnetka Weekly Talk and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse side of this form to wit:

1. That the names and addresses

ILLINOIS TROOPS MAKING GOOD "OVER THERE"

Illinois can feel proud, indeed, of her soldiers in France and many local people will be especially interested in the following from a letter received recently by Mrs. Frank H. Chase of Chicago, whose son is a member of battery C of the 149th United States field artillery, 42d division:

"March 18.
 "We have had one baptism of fire in this sector and have given a good account of ourselves; the French even admit it and have had occasion more than once to praise American grit and accuracy.

"The 149th have done good work under trying circumstances. A certain officer said to one of the boys the other day, "You fellows mean business, don't you? That is why your regiment is marked among the highest of the American army."

"Day by day we are giving the Germans something to think about. Of course, they do not let us think in peace, but every now and then drop nice heavy fellows over to let us know they are not dead.

"My first experience with the 'Dutch shells'; we have them nearly all the time and we have become used to them, as well as to the rattle of the guns and deep tones of the old anti-aircraft and the broken staccato of the Huns' planes. As the French say, 'C'est la Guerre.'"

"Peak" Day

Wednesday, April 3, was a peak day in sales of War Savings stamps, when $4,120,932 was recorded at the Treasury for the day's receipts from stamp sales.
