

Social Happenings on the North Shore by Ruth Risley

LET US CARRY YOU BACK TO PARIS to the good old days when there was no war, no air raids, no long range gun! Tomorrow, Saturday, is French Market day and from noon until way into the wee hours attractive market women in typical costumes will peddle their wares on the Community House lawn. At 1:30 o'clock, Mr. Henri Delebecque will serve a French luncheon cooked by himself. And during the afternoon, together with the sale of vegetables, garden flowers, small trees, shrubs and various other things of interest, there will be refreshments of ices, and French sweets.

No French market is complete without a little dancing to the strains of a hurdy gurdy, so of course there is to be this delightful feature. Then too, there will be some military music, in accordance with the times. And it has been hinted that there will be some jackies present.

Lieutenant J. Allen Haines will act as auctioneer and his usual success speaks well indeed for the swelling of the Dr. Brown fund. Donations of any garden plants, shrubs or small trees are requested.

A rather unique invitation in the form of a French poem has been composed by Mr. Henri Delebecque, which will undoubtedly be of interest to those of us who have been in Paris; it follows:

Nous irons au marché
Acheter des légumes
Nous irons admirer
Les blondes et less brunes
Et si elles sont gentilles
Cela divertira tout l' monde
Venez jaser, garçons et filles
Amenez vous tous à la ronde.

Il y en a pour tous les gouts
Et de toute varitéé
Messieurs et dames, amenez vous
Sur la place du marché
Achetez nos marchandise
L' economie est notre devise.
