

Social Happenings on the North Shore by Ruth Risley

IT SEEMS NEEDLESS to urge citizens to buy tickets for the government's war exposition to be held next month in Grant Park. Nothing of more absorbing interest has been projected in Chicago since the World's Fair days than this display of the implements of war used by America and our allies.

Tickets cost less now than they will later. They can be purchased at the Winnetka Drug store and it will be well for all of us to lay in a goodly supply, for it will be impossible to see everything in one short trip.

The exposition will enable those who visit to visualize the war, to understand its problems, and to get some conception of its mighty and multifold mechanism. It will be a trip to the fighting front without all the horrors and the perils.

This is a golden opportunity to become acquainted with the weapons our own boys are using daily. Let no one miss it.

One of the loveliest weddings ever witnessed by society, took place last Saturday afternoon at Christ church, when Miss Betty Hoyt, daughter of Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt became the bride of Lieutenant T. Philip Swift, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift. Christ church was built by Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hoyt as a memorial to their daughter, Mrs. Frederick Morton Fox.

Reverend E. Ashley Gerhard, rector of the church, who is soon to go to France as an army chaplain, officiated. The church was a veritable bower of oak leaves, lilies, gladiolus, roses, dahlias and orchids, and a most lovely setting for the bridal party.

Leading the procession was the standard bearer Frederick Spencer, U. S. N., and following the bridegroom and his best man, Wellesley H. Stillwell, were the ushers, Lieutenant Paul Hunter, Ensign Harry Parker, John Mitchel, Carlos Drake, William M. Hoyt II., Landon Hoyt, and Richard Mabbitt.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Edward F. Swift, Jr., Mrs. Huntington Henry, Miss Genevra King, Miss Lolita Armour, Miss Helen Hoyne, Miss Katherine Blossom, Miss Blanche Day, Miss Louise Garaghty, Miss Margaret Pullman, and Miss Reba Gray of Nashville, Tenn., wore orchid chiffon frocks and large black tulle hats trimmed with pink, blue, and orchid flowers.

The bride, who is small and blonde and pretty, wore a gown of white satin, made with a court train, over which fell the tulle veil.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the residence of Benjamin Allen, Mrs. Hoyt's father, with whom she and her daughters live.

At the wedding and reception were many members of the Junior League and the Illinois Motor corps, both of which the bride is a member, and also friends from Lake Geneva, where the groom's parents have their country residence.

Two gas ranges, one go-cart, and two handsome lamp shades are among the articles listed for sale in the Gift Shop. Mrs. Harry Street, telephone Winnetka 1037, has a baby carriage which she offers for sale, the proceeds to go to the Gift Shop fund.

Miss O'Brien's Millinery shop on Elm street is the Gift Shop headquarters for receiving materials suitable for infants and children's clothing. A good many have responded most generously to the Gift Shop's appeal of a week ago, and Miss O'Brien is giving much of her time to the work of planning and making hats, baby caps, dresses and aprons. Miss O'Brien is a genius. She sees possibilities in every scrap of lace or cloth. New material is desired but lingerie gown make lovely baby caps and dresses and used pieces of velvet can be nicely renovated for children's winter hats. A sale of these garments will be announced later. If any one wishes further information in regard to this enterprise, call Miss O'Brien, at her shop Winnetka 294 or Mrs. F. S. Capron, Winnetka 336.

Mrs. Don C. Cratt and baby, and Miss Mary Arend of Mattoon, Ill., were the guests this week of Dr. Alameda Goodspeed, 545 Lincoln avenue. Mrs. M. H. Goodspeed has just returned to Ottawa, Canada, after a two months' visit with Dr. Goodspeed.

Take your old gold, silver and platinum to H. A. de Windt, 593 Sheridan road, and receive War Savings Stamps that pay you about four and one-half per cent interest. Mr. de Windt has already received a considerable quantity of these metals but there are many people in Winnetka who have not yet realized how much better it is to turn their useless gold, silver, plated silver and platinum articles into an interest bearing government security. Mr. de Windt gets 57 cents a pennyweight for 18 carat gold; 85 cents an ounce for sterling silver, and $95.00 an ounce for platinum. For one lot of old silver spoons and forks he got $65.65. Start looking over your useless things of that character, and help win the war.

Have you seen a copy of "Aunt Betty's Cook Book?" If you haven't, you really ought to, for it is a positive fact that you will find several recipes in it, that you never dreamed existed. It is a daintily bound book in red, white and blue, issued by the Commission for Food Conservation and being sold by the American Fund for French Wounded and its sub-committee Le Cercle Francais, for the benefit of the Chicago Branch. In glancing over the pages, one will find some very appetizing recipes, which call for neither flour sugar, cream nor butter. Can you hardly believe that? Nevertheless it is true, and in purchasing the book, you will not only help yourself but the Fund for French Wounded.

The young women who sold War Savings stamps at the Depot last Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings deserve a great deal of credit for through their efforts about $1300 was realized. Salting. Cabbage, string beans, turnip tops, corn, cucumbers, dandelions and other greens are suitable. Young string beans sliced two or three times and put up the same as sauerkraut, make a delicious and wholesome food.

To make sauerkraut take solid heads of cabbage, slice fine, then place a two or three inch layer in crock or barrel—scatter over this a layer of salt and alternate these until the container is filled, and then pack with a wooden tamper and weight down the mass with a heavy stone resting upon a board sufficiently large to cover the contents.

Proportion of salt: 1/4 the weight of vegetables.

Before cooking salted products they should be rinsed once, thoroughly, soaked, and cooked in water in which they have been soaked.

Paint is a necessity —not a luxury

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait your house is worth less. Good-paint money is good paint insurance. And it's pretty good insurance on the value of your property, too.
