Two hundred thousand men of the new draft will be mobilized early in November, Provost Marshal General Crowder announced Wednesday. They will be called from every state. AIR SERVICE IS AGAIN OPEN FOR RECRUITING

Young Men of Draft Age and Skilled Men Not So Young Will Now Be Accepted

The U. S. Air Service is again open to young men in the draft. The state Council of Defense organization is aiding in the recruiting.

Those who wish to get in should volunteer quickly because civilians have had no opportunity to qualify as pilots since last March, and there are a lot of adventurous youngsters who want to take their chance in the air. The government wants for this service men to train as:

- Pilots
Bombers.
Observers
Balloonists.
Mechanics.

The qualifications for the Air Service are high. Practically half the applicants are found unfit for flying at the first examination. Others are weeded out as training progresses, for the qualified airman must not only learn to fly his machine, but must learn radio photography, bombing machine gunnery and artillery observation as well. So the government asks that only those who feel sure they can pass both the physical and the mental tests will apply.

The age limits for flyers are 18 to 30 years but youngsters under 25 are preferred. Age limits for balloonists are 18 to 45 years.

For mechanical work of the Air Service, skilled men only are sought, and skilled particularly in one or the other of these branches: Airplane mechanics cabinetmakers, chauffeurs, electricians, auto mechanics, radio operators, motorcyclists, tailors, instrument repairmen, carpenters, clerks, motor mechanics, riggers, engine repairmen, propeller makers, stenographers, machinists. The age limits for those who apply as mechanics are 18 to 55 years.

Applicants for the flying branch of the Air Service should apply to the Aviation Examining Board, 120 West Adams street, Chicago, and for the mechanical branch, to the Air Service Trade Test Board at the same address.

RED CROSS WANTS 1050 MORE DRIVERS

Major H. P. Harding Commander of Camp Scott, Chicago, the official training camp for Red Cross drivers, states that due to increased facilities at the barracks they will enlist 1,050 more men for duties overseas in France and Italy.

This section is open to men under eighteen years, or over forty-five years of age also to men in deferred classifications. It is necessary that the applicant have at least one year's driving experience.

A course of training lasting four weeks is given, consisting of mechanical training and military discipline. The training is intensive. Military discipline is upheld always. Actual work in constructing and reassembling automobiles is given. Demon- strations of all possible accidents and breakdowns are shown with the quickest method of repairing.

A driving course, which is as rough as the roughest spots in No Man's land adjoins the barracks, and the driver is required to cover this course under all conditions, at certain speeds and with certain loads. Forty dollars a month and main- tenance, including equipment, is paid after sailing; while in training, half pay and maintenance.

NEXT YEAR'S GARDENS

A home garden for every family in the state of Illinois, is the ambition of Dr. R. J. H. De Loach, just appointed by the Food Production and Conservation of the State Council of Defense.

Dr. DeLoach, who is director of the Bureau of Agricultural Research of Armour and company and an expert in plant breeding, has also been appointed by Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane to direct the U S School Garden Army to be organized in Illinois.

Dr. DeLoach will take up the two tasks together with headquarters in the State Council of Defense build- ing, 120 West Adams street, im- mediately.

The U. S. School Garden Army was started last year at the request of Secretary Lane and President Wilson who is commander-in-chief of the children's organization. This year it is to be organized in all states, and Illinois has been asked to lead the way. Children will be formed into companies of 150 with captains and lieutenants each com- pany to have a garden teacher.

This work will be carried on with the co-operation of the school boards in all parts of the state.

A new class will open October 28. This will be a day class taking a six week's course.

Dr. Oliver J. Lee director of the school, particularly calls upon pilots, masters wheelmen and quarter- masters of lake vessels being put up for the winter to take the course in preparation for ocean service in case they can be spared from service on organizations are asked to join in the lakes. Star of Gold

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Huerter, of Gross Point, received a telegram Monday from Washington, conveying the sad news that their only son, Peter, who has been in the National army only two months, died October 4, of pneumonia, on board ship en route to France, and was buried at sea with military honors the following morning.

Young Huerter, who represents Gross Point's first gold star, was an employe of Tucker's Shoe store when he was called to service with a number of other young men, and sent to Texas for training. He was a student at New Trier High school for several years.

He was very popular in Gross Point, where he had lived since birth, and he also had many friends in Wilmette.

Besides his parents three sisters survive him.
