

NOTED WOMAN LEADS WOMAN'S PEACE RALLY

Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale Will Speak at the Winnetka Woman's Club on Monday, December 16

WOMAN'S PEACE JUBILEE

Plan General Patriotic Program by Woman's Club and Parent-Teacher Association

Now that the cessation of hostilities and the coming of a great and glorious peace are being marked with such a wide variety of peace celebrations, it seems particularly fitting that the American women who have formed "the second line of defense" should hold very special peace celebrations. The Winnetka Woman's club and the Parent-Teachers association are arranging a Woman's Peace Jubilee, to be held in the Woman's club on Monday, December 16, at 2:30 o'clock.

There will be a general patriotic program and the speaker of the occasion will be Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale who is now making such a sensation in her western tour. Mrs. Hale will thrill the Winnetka women with her description of the most important phase of the great peace work which is opening before us.

This will be an inspiring day in Winnetka. Let every woman in the Village plan to attend our peace jubilee.

THANKSGIVING DAY MARKED BY PRETTY DOUBLE WEDDING

Thanksgiving Day marked the time and Sacred Heart church the place for a double wedding with Winnetkans as the principals.

The Misses Elfrieda and Loretto Petersen, daughters of Mr. P. J. Petersen of 722 Elm street, were the brides. Miss Elfrieda was united in marriage to Mr. Raymond N. Kloepfer, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Kloepfer of 592 Provident avenue. Miss Loretto became the bride of Mr. Harold W. Roberts, son of Mrs. H. Roberts of 850 Cherry street.

High mass was celebrated at Sacred Heart church at 10 o'clock at which time the double ceremony was performed. A reception followed the nuptials.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Sarah O'Brien of Winnetka for Miss Loretto to Petersen, and Florence Dean of Milwaukee, for Miss Elfrieda Petersen.

BLUEJACKETS WELL BEHAVED SAYS OFFICIAL

M. J. Feron, general superintendent, of transportation of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee electric railroad has had greater opportunities to observe the conduct of the bluejackets at Great Lakes than have most men. He has been in the railroad business for many years and has handled some of the largest crowds that have ever been gathered together on a single occasion, including the crowds which attended the Chicago World's Fair.

Mr. Feron says that the bluejackets at Great Lakes are the best behaved passengers he had ever handled. On Saturday and Sunday evenings when traffic to and from Great Lakes is heaviest, Mr. Feron has been on duty at all hours of the day and night. He says he has yet to see a blue-jacket drunk and disorderly. That is the testimony of a man who knows, because he is on the ground.

The North Shore line carries thousands of men from Great Lakes every week and its superintendent and employees vouch for the good conduct of the bluejackets. Captain Moffet is making real men of the raw material with which he is supplied.

Reconstruction Rally

There will be a big Patriotic Reconstruction rally at Orchestra Hall on Monday, December 2, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale will be the speaker and will give her thrilling talk on "Conservation for World Relief". Music will be furnished by a Grand Opera soloist and a fifty-piece Great Lakes band. A number of complimentary tickets have been sent to the War Emergency Union and will be given to any who ask for them at the War Emergency Office.

Lieutenant Roswell Hayes Fuller, Air Pilot, Believed Killed in Action; Reported Missing

Casualty lists late last week carried the name of Lieutenant Roswell Hayes Fuller, Winnetka aviator, as missing in action. Red Cross reports announced the young American flyer was killed while engaged in an aerial battle in which he brought down a Boche plane but lost his own life. The mother, Mrs. Frank R. Fuller, of 362 Hawthorn lane, it was said, still clings to the opinion that her son is alive, though among the missing.

Lieutenant Roswell Hayes Fuller was a pursuit pilot in Major Thaw's squadron. He was one of the Yale group of flyers who purchased their own machines and engaged their own instructors. Two of his companions, Dumaresq Spencer of Highland Park and Wallace Winter of Lake Forest, were killed earlier in the year. He was a class mate, at New Trier high school of Lieutenant Dinsmore Ely.

Lieutenant Fuller is a grandson of O. F. Fuller founder and president of the Fuller-Morrison company of Chicago. He is also a grandson of the late S. S. Hayes, friend of Abraham Lincoln and one of the earlier leaders of Illinois.

Writes Of Air Battle

Writing of one of his missions, Lieutenant Fuller said: "I had been out on two patrols and was just starting on the third when the major asked me if I would like to undertake a special mission. Headquarters was anxious to obtain information about a large city and German base well behind the lines. They picked 'Les' Runnel and me for the job—I guess because they could spare us more easily than any of the others.

"We made the trip—about seventy-five miles into Germany—without incident, except for our friends, the 'Archies.' We were circling over M— when suddenly I heard the too familiar rat-tat-tat and saw a couple of incendiary bullets fly past me. I looked around and saw seven Fokkers on my trail.

"Those Boche played with me like a cat with a mouse. Five remained about 200 meters above us, protecting the two who had me dead to rights. Every time they started to close in on me I would turn on the nearest one and let him have it. They were forcing me down all the time. I didn't see a chance for escape, but never gave up hope.

Decides Upon Death

"I kept up this sort of running fight for about ten miles, finishing at an altitude of only 75 meters. I couldn't go any lower, and decided to commit suicide by mixing up with all seven of them, rather than be forced to land and be taken prisoner. I turned, but saw them leaving me. I don't know why, but I was certainly relieved."

NATIONAL FOOD CONSERVATION WEEK DECEMBER 1 TO 8

The War Emergency Union has just received a copy of Mr. Hoover's new message calling upon the American people to set aside Sunday, December 1, and the week following for the consideration of America's opportunity for renewed service and sacrifice. Mr. Hoover's message is to be read from the pulpits and at all public meetings, and it will be posted on the War Emergency bulletin boards and printed in the next issue of the Weekly Talk.

Captain Snell Wounded

Captain Harold W. Snell, formerly of the 31st Infantry, has been wounded but is reported recovering in Base Hospital No. 20, at Chateau Grion, France. Mrs. Snell, wife of the army man, resides at 1291 Asbury avenue, Hubbard Woods.

Star of Gold

Before he was killed in action in the Argonne on October 12, Lieutenant Manierre B. Ware won the red badge of courage with a unit of his regiment, the Three Hundred and Sixty-second infantry. He was the son of Charles T. Ware of Kenilworth, director of the National Bank of the Republic and associate director of the bureau of supplies of the central division of the Red Cross.

Lieutenant Ware's command had been ordered to "mop-up" a German machine gun nest on the crest of a wooded hill. They were subjected to heavy fire. A one pound gun had been trained on the nest, but the officer in charge was killed. Lieutenant Ware took his place and himself was killed.

Adolph Kieson is now with company E, 108th Army Train overseas.

Lieutenant Moore Leads Aerial Rescue Party in Search of Aviator Lost in the Everglades

Experiences of an aerial rescue party hovering over the dense Everglades of Florida, in search of a fallen pilot and "ship", are related interestingly by Lieutenant H. E. Moore of Dorr Field, Arcadia, Fla., in the following letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Moore of Wilmette.

Incidentally, Lieutenant Moore refers to a promotion, in position, to assistant officer in charge of flying, and field commander, an advance which, he complains, will keep him from enjoying a Thanksgiving furlough in Wilmette.

The letter reads: Dorr Field, Arcadia, Florida, November 14, 1918.

Dear Folks:— Received your most welcome letter yesterday and was sure glad to hear from you.

Will try to get home Thanksgiving but can't swear to it as I got a promotion last Friday, in position only however,—which requires a great deal of attention, and don't see how I can break some one in to take my place for a few weeks.

Assistant Officer of Flying

Don't know why they picked on me but they made me assistant officer in charge of flying, and field commander. I am out on the field from 5:45 A. M. to 5 P. M. every day. We have four stages in this gunnery and have commanders for each stage and I must watch all the work of the commanders and officers who are taking the course. I have my own ship, a dual control double ailerdu Hispano, for my own use. I go up and watch the practices from the air when I get tired of staying on the ground. It is a good job. I don't mind it so much since the war is over. Isn't it rotten that I haven't had a chance to get over? Just to think of the time I have put in and accomplished nothing. I say it h—

Search for Lost Aviator

Yesterday I went out on a hunting expedition in the Everglades for a man who was lost last Sunday when making a cross-country trip. We called off all regular flying instructions and started a patrol of 42 Hispanos. We flew two miles apart in the morning constantly on the watch out for a ship on the ground. One of the boys found the ship in the Everglades up on its nose, with a broken "prop" and wing. That was terrible country—just a marsh and so soggy a fellow would sink down up to his hips. The fellow who saw the ship had to land five miles away and walk over. He found a note saying the unfortunate pilot had started to walk toward camp, as he thought. The man had been without food for three days and we thought he must be about dead by this time. But we didn't give up the chase. We decided to hunt for the man. We all landed at Okochobee City for dinner and started out again. We flew from 15 to 200 feet over all the country around the wreck. We found the man 30 miles from the ship and he had been constantly going in circles and was just about dead. He was just getting out of a swamp when discovered. He sure had some wild experiences. He said he thought 200 ships had passed over him the day before without seeing him. The man was nearly insane. Guess and hope he will pull through O. K. after remaining in the hospital for a little while.

Hoping to see you all soon and sending lots of love I will close, Harold.

DEMobilize S. A. T. C. ON DECEMBER 2

Orders reached Evanston this week ordering the demobilization of the student army training corps of Northwestern university. The demobilization will commence December 2, it was stated.

It is understood a similar order has gone to all the other universities and colleges of the country where there are S. A. T. C. corps.

Eighteen hundred students of the Northwestern university will be affected by the order, as it refers to the men in the Chicago department as well as those on the local campus.

It was stated today that strict discipline would be maintained until the last man receives his discharge.

Students, to obtain an honorable discharge, must have a perfect report, as those who break any rules or grow lax in their work will be unable to receive the coveted honorable discharge papers.

It is believed the establishment of the corps there and its maintenance has cost the government in the neighborhood of $250,000.

REQUIEM EUCHARIST FOR LIEUT. TOWER

The service was held on Sunday morning so that others besides his family and friends would be able to be present. The Reverend F. Grant was in charge of the service.

INFLUENZA SITUATION REMAINS UNIMPROVED

Health Commissioner Declares many Residents Are Violating Health Rules Governing Cases

GUSTAV HAAS SUCCUMBS

Ill Only a Few Days When Taken by Death; Commissioner Issues Hospital Report

By Dr. C. O. Schneider

The influenza situation at present and during the past week is fully as unsatisfactory as at any time since the twelfth of this month, when the epidemic obtained a new start, and it is quite likely that more stringent measures must soon be employed, if much suffering and needless sacrifice of human lives is to be avoided.

It is with much regret that the announcement is made of the death last Saturday of Mr. Gustav Haas, after being ill for only a few days with influenza.

Must Observe Health Rules

Every precaution should be taken to avoid persons who are afflicted with what may appear like only an ordinary cold, as this is the appearance of the early stages of influenza, and also because some people have this disease in such a mild form that they try to ignore the condition, and instead of being confined to the house as the law demands, they continue to go about their ordinary duties and spread this dangerous disease broadcast among their friends and business associates. It is the mild cases, and persons being at large before they are fully recovered, that is the cause of the widespread prevalence and difficulty of controlling this disease. There is no disease more contagious than influenza, and those who have not had the malady recently, are most likely to contract the disease if they are exposed. There is practically no immunity, and vigorous health does not protect a person from contracting this extremely contagious disease, if they come in contact with people who are afflicted with it.
