The Economy Shop solicits every article you do not want, whether it be old or new. This is to be a permanent enterprise for the benefit of Wilmette charities, and it needs the co-operation of every home. Early this morning, collectors were out with horse and wagon, picking up the various articles, which are to be taken to the Shop and sold, on Fridays and Saturdays of every week. This week the Shop is open every day for receiving goods but hereafter, it will be open on Thursdays only. Send your old furniture, clothes, and other knick-knacks, that are no longer of any use to you. They can be converted into money, to be used for a worthy cause.

COMMERCIAL ECONOMY ADMINISTRATION ENDS

Administrator Stumer Announces All Activities of the Department Ceased on December 1

Louis M. Stumer, head of the Commercial Economy Administration of the State Council of Defense, announced that the activities of his department were discontinued on December 1. This includes the ward, county and community organizations of the Administration as well as the central office.

Under the direction of various governmental agencies, the Commercial Economy Administration was created to put into effect certain definite things with the double purpose of conserving man and motive power and of including thrift throughout the state. Among these were:

To restrict Christmas buying to useful gifts and bring about very early Christmas shopping.

To limit deliveries by all mercantile houses—butter shops, bakeries, department stores, etc.—to one a day.

To induce all shoppers to carry home, themselves, as many of their purchases as possible, and especially small parcels.

To abolish special deliveries.

To limit the return of goods for exchange or refund to three days from date of purchase.

To get early closing hours of all retail establishments both to relieve the people employed, and to conserve fuel.

All these reforms were made effective throughout the state by Mr. Stumer's organization, but since the signing of the armistice the national government agencies have removed virtually all restrictions, some directly and others by implication.

In getting ready to close up shop Stumer urges upon the various branches of trade throughout the state that in behalf of continuing economy the reforms which have been effected should be maintained, for their own sake, by trade organizations.

A. Phillipsborn was the chairman of the local branch of the Commercial Economy Administration composed of a score or more of Winnetka merchants.

Another Coal-Digging Record

One of the best coal-digging records ever reported to the Fuel Administration was set up recently by Rudolph Cheney, a Conifer, Pa., miner, who loaded 18 tons of coal each day for a month. Official acknowledgment of the miner's splendid performance and the good example which he set for his fellow workers in that and other fields was made by officials of the Fuel administration.

Figuring Weight of Ice

A very close estimate of the weight of any block of ice may be ascertained by applying the following method: The volume of the ice in cubic inches is obtained by multiplying together the three dimensions. Dividing the product by 30 gives the weight of the ice in pounds. For instance, if the block is 10 by 10 by 12 inches, its volume is 1,200 cubic inches; dividing this product by 30 gives 40 pounds as the correct weight of the ice. —Popular Science Monthly.

Christ called men to observe seven grudgeless, hateless days each week; to forsake the awful luxury of "getting even."
