Heavy Vote.

"I have estimated," says Herman J. Phink, the scientist, "that if all the hard-boiled eggs in America cash their solid vote for a presidential candidate it would take two years to count his plurality."

Gulls as Mice-Catchers.

A writer in California Fish and Game says that gulls when visiting the rivers and marshes of the interior valley of California, do not appear to be wholly scavengers or piscivorous. A California gull taken on March 12, 1912, along the San Quaquin river near Mendota, Fresno county, was presented to me. Upon dissection I was astonished to find its stomach filled with common black crickets and three whole field mice.

Incurable Prodigal.

In spite of good training, example and precept at the firesides, a man from New England boasts that he spends as much as five cents a year for amusements. There are prodigals everywhere, it seems.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.
