

MUCH GOLD MOVED EAST IN AUGUST

There was an extensive movement of gold to the far east during August, aggregating approximately $10,502,000 to Japan, $27,347,000 to China and upwards of $2,500,000 to India. From figures available it is estimated that over $100,000,000 in gold has been shipped to the far east since the embargo on the exportation of gold was lifted in June. The shipments are practically equally divided between Japan and China.

The shipments, from time to time, from the Pacific coast have attracted little attention and few realized that they have assumed such proportions. There is a difference of opinion as to whether or not the gold shipments to China are significant. Some maintain that the present shipments are merely to supply China's requirements for the arts, because during the war she had extreme difficulty in obtaining gold and she is simply taking enough to meet those requirements. Hitherto much of her gold has come from other countries, but at present she can only obtain it from us, and her demand for it may cease at any time.

It is generally agreed that most of the gold is being hoarded and that probably a large portion of it will find its way to India. Some is doubtless being hoarded, and some held to exchange for silver when that metal declines from its present price. It is also thought by some that a considerable portion of the gold being shipped is to be used as a basis for bank note issue.

Silver, at the same time, has not been entirely neglected, as is evidenced by the fact that even at its present high level, August shipments of the metal to China have aggregated $8,000,000. This is very close to equaling one-half of the entire gold export to China during the twelve months ending June 30, 1919, which amounted to $24,571,791.

Fully Qualified

They are arguing about qualifications for successful careers, and a famous playwright, who was one of the party, maintained that the stage offered the easiest opportunities for beginning. As some doubt was thrown on this claim, he produced a letter from a man who wished to be engaged for his new play, which was about to be produced. The letter ran as follows:

"Reverend Sir: Wishing to go on the stage, would like to appear in your play. Have been a market gardener for some years, but, having gone bankrupt, have decided to take up acting, the same requiring no capital. I am no longer young, but 6 feet 2 inches in my stocking feet. Have mastered a book on elocution, and am fond of late hours."—Windsor.

Spoke a Little Hastily

John Brougher tells this one: One colored gent said to another: "Ev'ry time I hugs my feeanzay and kisses her, she just giggles and squirms alarming." To which the other responded: "I say she does." "Huh?" asked the belligerent swain, as his eye took on a glitter. "I say, does she?" was the eager change in the response.

SINGING

LIFE'S days are apt to hold its pans,
With here and there some pots,
And when we look around a bit,
We find unpleasant spots.
But there are many songs to sing,
And friendly hearts to know,
As for life's daily spots and pots—
Ha, Ha!
