

NORTHWESTERN ANNOUNCES
1920 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Despite the fact that Chicago has refused to play Northwestern at football next fall the Purple gridiron schedule for 1920 is one of the best the school has had in years. Five conference teams will be played, two at Evanston and three away from home.

For the first time in over fifteen years the Gophers from Minneapolis will be seen on the N. U. field. Dr. Henry L. Williams will bring his string of northern giants to Evanston on October 9. A week later the Purple will clash with the Badgers at Madison.

Indiana will be played at Indianapolis, Northwestern being the only team in the conference to play the Hoosiers at the capital. This game is scheduled for October 30.

To Play Iowa

On November 6 the Purple will play Iowa at Iowa City and on November 13 Purdue comes here for the last conference game on the schedule.

Northwestern would have played Michigan at Evanston next year had it not been for the decision of Coach Yost to schedule but four conference games next year.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC:

The Public Utilities Commission has ordered further definite conservation of fuel to take effect Dec. 8, 1919.
The order is as follows:

1. All illumination for display or advertising or ornamental purposes, whether within or without buildings, and all exterior illumination of buildings, shall be entirely stopped. In addition to this, all other interior illumination or any business premises shall, during the hours permitted by this order for the use of gas and electricity for such business, be reduced to 50% of the amount normally required, provided, that in rooms where machinery is being operated the reduction of illumination shall only be to such extent as may be consistent with safety.

2. Suburban and local transportation schedules shall be reduced immediately to the least number of runs that will accommodate necessary travel requirements. As every ten degrees by which the temperature is lowered during zero weather on surface and elevated cars will save between 350 and 400 tons of coal per day, the temperature of cars and stations at all times should be reduced to the lowest point consistent with public health and safety.

3. Work shops, industrial establishments, wholesale businesses, mercantile establishments and storage warehouses (cold storage warehouses and plants excepted) shall receive service not to exceed six and one-half working hours of the day between the hours of 9:00 A. M. and 3:30 P. M. Where the nature of business requires continuous operation, an equivalent reduction must be accomplished by refusing service at least two working days a week; and where the business is conducted by means of a day shift and a night shift each shift shall be limited to six and one-half hours.

4. Except as hereinafter provided, all retail establishments, stores and merchandising shops shall receive service not to exceed six hours a day from 12:00 o'clock M. to 6:00 P. M., except on Saturdays such establishments may receive service from 12:00 o'clock M. to 9:00 P. M. Barber shops shall be governed by this rule, except when located in office buildings, in which case they may receive service from 9:00 A. M. to 3:30 P. M. only.

5. Offices, banks and other places of business—all office buildings included—shall receive service from 9:00 A. M. to 3:30 P. M. only, except that banks which customarily remain open for business certain evenings each week may continue to receive service on such evenings. Every possible economy in light, heat and power, including reduction in elevator service, must be effected within these hours and the heating during closed hours be reduced to the lowest margin of safety. Newspapers shall exercise every economy consistent with the nature of the business and the publication of their papers.

In all buildings of whatever character, including factories and stores referred to above, service lighting shall be reduced to a minimum, elevator service outside of the hours specified for operation shall be reduced to one car, and heat must be cut off, except in such degree as will prevent damage by freezing.

6. Theaters, vaudeville houses and similar places of amusement, not including motion picture houses, shall be restricted to service to six performances a week, namely, one in the afternoon and five in the evening, and enjoined to exercise at all times the greatest economy in illumination. Inasmuch as motion picture houses consume very little light, they are excepted from regulation as to hours, but are required to effect all possible economies in the use of light and heat. Use of service by theaters, vaudeville houses and motion picture houses outside of hours of operation shall be only sufficient to safeguard against freezing.

7. Cigar stores not in office buildings, drug stores, meat markets, grocers, bread makers, hotels, restaurants, garages, billiard and pool rooms, bath houses and bowling alleys are not restricted as to hours of service, but are required to exercise all possible economy of heat, power and light.

We ask the Public to co-operate in stopping excessive use of gas, particularly in effecting their utmost in saving. "DO NOT WASTE GAS, use within the limits, use Gas only where it is absolutely necessary—but no more. By doing this you will help us avoid a final shortage and save on Gas.

This order is not to be interpreted so as to conflict with any orders of the Federal Government.

This order shall be effective on and after 12:01 A. M., December 8, 1919, and shall supersede said order of December 3, 1919, so far as it affects public utilities furnishing gas and electricity in Cook County, Illinois.

By order of the Commission at Springfield, Illinois, this fifth day of December, 1919.

For one year the Bell Telephone System, as well as other telephone, telegraph, cable and radio systems, was under control and supervision of the government of the United States. This was a war measure, designed to give the war agencies of the country the fullest use of all facilities of communication.

During this time the normal development and expansion of all telephone systems was necessarily subordinated to governmental needs. Materials and equipment had to be utilized first in the construction and maintenance of lines for war purposes. Ordinary development and expansion waited.

The Bell Telephone System is making headway in its effort to overtake the demand for service which developed during this period of suspension, but some time will yet be required before the expansion of the business can proceed at normal speed.
