The Used Car Market

is glutted today with various makes of so-called "in-betweens," one-year cars, $1,200 to $1,800 imitations of good cars.

People are learning car values, and

FORD ENCLOSED CARS

or extremely high-priced ones are steadily relegating the others to second-hand dealers or the scrap yard.

READ BETWEEN THE LINES

Financial reports today read in part as follows: "The demand for a popular light car continues to grow while others, excepting very high-priced cars, show a decided slowing down of orders."

IS THE SERVICE POOR?
HERE'S THE REASON

Local Exchange Forced to Use Student Operators Because of Shortage of Workers

When you wish to telephone your friends, or grocer or the taxicab company and the operator doesn't make a prompt response, is slow in getting the number, gives you the wrong number or the busy signal, don't bang the receiver down and give her a shock, but consider the following facts given a Weekly Talk representative by the local exchange supervisor:

"A large number of the operators in the local exchange are novices. Because of the shortage of operators their terms as students at the Evanston offices may have been cut short to fill the gaps in the ranks. It is true that the local service is known by the slogans "rotten and awful," but when one considers the above facts the service is just a trifle better than it really seems. Now isn't it?"

"And against the day when the telephone service in Winetka will be normal a kind 'Please' and 'Thank You,' occasionally will assist greatly in encouraging young women at the switchboard."
