WORK ON INDUSTRIAL PROGRAM UNDER WAY

Senate to Probe Conditions and Present Recommendations—Hoover First Witness.

Washington—Work on a legislative program for industrial reconstruction in which labor will receive greater recognition was started in congress early in July. It is stated that the senate committee on education and labor, of which Senator William S. Kenyon is chairman, will be ready to present a draft of comprehensive recommendations to congress when it convenes in December. It is announced by the committee that Herbert Hoover will be the first witness in the hearings that will soon be in progress. Later Samuel Gompers and other labor representatives, William Howard Taft and Charles Schwab will be called by the committee.

A Natural Right

The law enacted by the republican congress during the recent session authorizing the organization of farmers in co-operative associations is not a special privilege, according to Representative Caleb R. Yanton of Delaware. "The farmer seeks only a natural right which every class of people enjoy and employ every day. The manufacturer has his association in which he establishes the price of his products. The retailer everywhere has the same co-operative association," states Mr. Yanton. "The law establishes the right of the farmer to sell his product by collective bargaining. He is not content with a state of affairs in which the value of the productions of his labor are fixed by other people."

Bills Were Killed

Of interest to every state in the Union as an important aid in good roads development was one of the several bills enacted by the republican congress and killed by the pocket veto of President Wilson. The act would have authorized the transfer of 500 ten-ton trucks and 200 mobile machine shop units from the war department to the department of agriculture for road work. The machine shop units are fitted up to repair motor vehicles and 2,000 of them are in the hands of the war department. The war department also has 6,000 five and ten-ton trucks. Although authority was given in the postoffice appropriation bill approved February 28, 1919, for the distribution of any surplus equipment, and supplies for the use of the states in road building, Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, has showed himself far from sympathetic with regard to the transfer. As Mrs. Barker is hedging on specific authority to do so, a similar bill will probably be presented to the president by congress in December. This distribution of this surplus of equipment among the states will be determined by population, area and road mileage.

Laborer Is Worthy

"Living conditions apply just as much to the public employe as the private employe." Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey said recently. "The latter class have presented their cases to their employers and have been granted relief necessary to enable them to continue supplying the necessities and comforts of life. The law increasing the salaries of postal employes partially provides what other classes of workers were previously granted by their employers. In my opinion it is not all that should be paid them. The cash receipts of the postoffice department for the year 1919 were $532,239,126.20. An enormous increase in actual pieces of mail delivered to the people who pay the bill was also apparent. If I know the heart of the American people, I do not believe that any of them will object to paying for extra service."

DAVID HOME SOLD

SPRINGFIELD BUILDING JUMPS FIFTY PER CENT: MORE HOMES NEEDED

Springfield, Ill.—Although building jumped over fifty per cent in Springfield the first year after the war than during the year before the war the city still needs between 500 and 1,000 new homes to take care of its increased population.

Inquiry at the chamber of commerce disclose a big shortage of homes here. The chamber is engaged in a "housing survey" and campaign to erect reasonable priced homes on easier terms. The estimate the number of new residences required at between 500 and 1,000.

Figures at the city building inspector's office show there were 374 building permits issued during 1914. In 1919 the figure leaped to 774 and still there are families without locations in Springfield.

Such a thing as a "house shortage" in 1914 was unknown, city officials declare, who add that at that time houses were plentiful in Springfield.

SELL EVANSTON RESIDENCE

Bernard F. Schulte of the Schulte Optical company, Chicago, has sold his residence at 806 Ingleside Place, Evanston, to Mrs. Charles Cremer, wife of the late Charles Cremer, former treasurer of the Peoria Fire Insurance company. R. M. Johnston and company negotiated the transaction.

Want It NOW. Here is what D. A. Stoker of Kenilworth says of the Continental Auto Insurance Association: "I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of your draft for $750 in settlement of damage to my machine account of accident, June 15. I am pleased with the promptness with which adjustment was made."

WIFE OF FORMER PASTOR IS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

Mrs. Spencer C. Haskin Passes Away Suddenly at Whitefish Lake, Michigan

The sudden death last week of Mrs. Spencer C. Haskin, wife of the Rev. Spencer C. Haskin, pastor of the East Congregational church of Grand Rapids, Mich., was a distinct shock to her many friends and acquaintances in Wilmette. Rev. Haskin was formerly pastor of the First Congregational church at Wilmette and Mrs. Haskin was well known in the village as an ardent church and welfare worker.

Mrs. Haskin died suddenly last Thursday from an attack of apoplexy at Whitefish Lake, where the family was enjoying a brief outing. Burial was on Saturday, at Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Haskin was a tireless church and mission worker. She was 55 years of age and was born in Illinois. She was a graduate of Gates college, Nebraska, and was married 28 years ago.
