Compare Your Experience with what it would be if you owned a Stanley Car

DOUBTLESS you used excellent judgment in selecting your car. In all probability you are proud to recommend it to your friends:

- BUT
- when you have approached a stiff hill and had to make a run for it, haven't you often wished it wasn't necessary?
 - and when, at a sharp turn, half way up, or in order to pass another car in safety, you had to shift gears, weren't you annoyed?
 - and when you struck heavy going in mud or sand, didn't it worry you to race your engine in low, knowing that a few minutes of such running did more harm than days of ordinary driving?
 - and when a heavy truck got in your way just long enough to make you shift gears, and you then lost your opportunity to slip in ahead because you were not quite sure how quickly you could pick up, and still slow down quickly enough without bumping some one—weren't you irritated and disappointed?
 - and haven't you wished for power that was always ready for the emergency and was controlled by throttle only? Haven't you dreamed that some day motor cars would be made with a flexibility which would emancipate you from such annoyances?

If so, you are ready to learn more about the Stanley. It would give us pleasure to demonstrate it to you. We can promise you that you will not be pestered to buy. The Stanley is for those who are ready for it.

Burnett M. Chipperfield

Republican Candidate for United States Senator

BURNETT M. CHIPERFIELD was born at Dover, Bureau County, Illinois, the son of a pioneer Methodist Clergyman of this State. He was educated in the public schools of Illinois and attended Hamline University.

He is a trial lawyer by profession—admitted to practice in all the courts of the State and the United States. He has given freely of his time to public service—lectured and spoken for years on public subjects and occasions, always without compensation.

Was elected City Attorney of Canton, Illinois, and afterwards elected as State's Attorney of Fulton County. Was President of the States Attorneys' Association of Illinois; has served on many important Committees of the Bar Association of Illinois; was President of the American Society of Military law, and is a member of the American Bar Association.

Was in the Illinois Legislature eight years, and was Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. Was also Chairman of the Submerged and Shore Lands Legislative Committee that did much to preserve the Lake Shore for the people of Chicago, and the rivers and lakes for the people of Illinois. During his service there, he was interested in labor and humanitarian measures. He was the author of the Convict Labor Law, taking convict labor out of competition with free labor. He there handled and advocated much of the mining legislation desired by the United Mine Workers of America. Was the author of the bill creating the Surgical Institution for Crippled Children, and many other measures looking to an improvement of living conditions in the State of Illinois.

Served as a member of the Congress of the United States, representing the State of Illinois at large. Was a member of the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives of the United States, a distinction rarely, if ever, accorded a new member of Congress.

Was a candidate for the nomination for United States Senator from Illinois in 1917. At the outbreak of the war, although he had actively commenced his campaign, he stated that he conceived it to be his duty to give his service to his country, and withdrew his candidacy "until a more propitious time," and early in 1917 entered the Army of the United States.

As an assistant to General Crowder, he helped to organize the Army of the United States for service in the war with the Central Powers, and was stationed in Chicago for that purpose. When this organization was well under way, he asked to be relieved from that duty that he might be sent to an active Division for overseas duty. Was assigned to the 33rd (Illinois) Division, and went with that Division to France early in the year 1918. The second day after the Division arrived in France, it was sent to the front and remained there on active duty until the Armistice. During this time, he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel for meritorious service.

After the Armistice, he was ordered into Germany with the Army of Occupation, being attached to the 3rd Army Corps. He was placed in charge of the Civil Administration of affairs of the occupied area of Germany across the Rhine. He was also made Superior Judge for that area. Was honorably discharged from the service in the summer of 1919.

Colonel Chipperfield was given numerous citations for his Army service, receiving them from General Pershing, General George Bell, Jr., and others, and was commended in writing by every General with whom he served. General Pershing awarded him a citation for "exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous service." He was also awarded a citation for "Gallantry in action against the enemy."

He is a member of the American Legion, Post No. 16.

Colonel Chipperfield is interested in agriculture and farming, and conducts near his home an extensive farm where he has given much time in developing the Aberdeen Angus breed of cattle.

He has taken much interest in educational matters, and during the period of construction and organization of the Western Illinois State Normal at Macomb, Illinois, acted as Secretary of its Board of Trustees.

He has distinguished himself as a citizen, lawyer, orator, Member of the Legislature, Member of Congress and as a soldier in the United States Army.

He would also distinguish himself in the United States Senate.

His candidacy presents the only opportunity to place a service man in the United States Senate.
