The End In Sight

The experiment in government by the proletariat which has been going on in Russia seems to be about to come to the unlovely end that such an adventure deserves. A policy that puts a premium upon ignorance and incapacity, and penalizes intelligence and ability is bound to fail miserably. That fate has not overtaken the people under the prevailing regime in Russia until much longer than it should have, not until much unnecessary agony has been suffered, much unnecessary loss been endured.

Brains will always dominate over brute force if given time. As man has mastered the lower animals and compelled them to do his bidding, to work under his direction, so will that portion of mankind that has become most highly developed control the future of the race. It is the only view to take of the progress of the human race that is not too discouraging to be considered.

It has required only a very little while for the ruthless hands of the present government in Russia to destroy what had been built up through the centuries, by hands directed by intelligence. Those who have destroyed cannot again build up, a fact that is only beginning to percolate into the consciousness of the ignorant and misdirected Russian people.

Nearly two years have passed since the cannon ceased to roar in Europe, but only now is there any reason to think that the beginning of the end of the chaos that war produced is near at hand. Many years must elapse before the effects of the war cease to exist on the surface of the lives of the peoples of the countries involved in it. But the prospect of the reorganization of Russia on a basis of individual integrity and persons of intelligence in positions of power and responsibility is the best sign that the time is near when the peoples of the world will be able again to live normal and measurably comfortable lives.

FRANCIS X. BUSCH

ANTI-THOMPSON
CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY JUDGE
Gets Strong Republican Support

Thousands of Republicans and independent voters, thoroughly aroused to the peril of allowing the Election machinery of Chicago and Cicero and the administration of the Psychopathic Hospital to fall in the hands of the Thompson-Lundin City Hall spoilsmen, are flocking to the support of FRANCIS X. BUSCH, Democratic Candidate for Judge of the County Court.

Mr. Busch's recognized character as a man and ability as a lawyer, are urged by his supporters as guarantee of an honest, intelligent, and impartial administration of the Election Commissioner's office (which is under the direct control of the County Judge) and the other important department of the County Court in the event of his election.

Mr. Busch is a special lecturer at Northwestern University. During the War he was a member of the Legal Advisory Board and the Board of Instruction of Exemption District No. 57, and did important work in connection with the Liberty Loan Drives and other War Activities. He is a member of the Elks, Knights of Pythias, Modern Woodmen, City Club, Irequois Club, Illinois Athletic and Ridgemoor Country Clubs.

Increases Torrens Efficiency

RECORD OF
JOSEPH F. HAAS
RECORDER OF DEEDS
AND
REGISTRAR OF TITLES
One of Real Service

The selection of Joseph F. Haas in the recent primary as the Republican candidate for re-election as Recorder of Deeds and Registrar of Titles was not only a personal compliment to Mr. Haas, but demonstrated beyond question that voters, even when confronted with a long involved ballot, are able to discriminate between candidates and vote for a man for whom they have a long, true and lasting friendship.

Joseph F. Haas is fortunate in having lived a life of real public service for a long enough period that the average voter associates his name at once with honesty and efficiency in the administration of a public office. Because he has given that kind of service in the past, and his record shows that he will continue to do so in the future, Joseph F. Haas is rich indeed in the friendship of the men and women of Cook County.

One of the many things that are of lasting benefit to the public which have been accomplished by him was shown in the Torrens department this week. Under the Torrens law no provision is made for spreading plats of subdivisions of record. As a piece of evidence of what a subdivision actually contains and what the number and size of the lots therein are, it can be readily seen that the owner of any lot in a subdivision where the plat was lost or misplaced might be put to serious loss and expense. Various Recorders have recognized that this was a defect in the law and have started in a desultory and fitful manner to spread Torrens plats of record, but in the end have always stopped without completing the work. When Joseph F. Haas came into office, however, he recognized that the rights of lot owners might be jeopardized by the loss of a plat, and proceeded to spread every Torrens plat of record and to make each plat just as accessible to the public as plats shown in the plat book of the Recorder's Office. He went back over the last twenty years that the law has been in operation and has brought every plat up to date, and is now preparing for the public an index to those plats which will be distributed free of charge. This work has not been done in a day, a month or even a year, but he went at it with the idea of finishing the job for the benefit of the public and he finished it. Now it will be an easy matter to keep the new plats spread of record as they come in from day to day.

This is the sort of thing which the Recorder of Deeds is constantly doing. His rule is to do for others in public office what he would like to have them do for himself—to give constant, real and unselfish service.
