Coercion Through Hunger Striking

MacSwiney is dead. After more than ten weeks of fasting the Lord Mayor of Cork has succumbed and the futility of that method of dealing with the British government has been fully demonstrated. It is not likely that there will be other fasting, at least not in the immediate future.

Hunger fasting as practiced by the militant suffragists in Great Britain proved to be a successful means of securing liberty from prison. Equality between men and women had not then reached that point at which men could deliberately let women die, even at their own hands. Perhaps the advance that has been made in the recognition of women in England might now induce the governmental authorities to turn aside from fasting women and leave them to nature as has been done in the case of the mayor of Cork.

Coercion of the government cannot be recognized. When the attempt involves death it is lamentable, but the condition is not changeable. Had Terence MacSwiney been liberated because of his announced determination to starve himself there would have been no end to the hunger striking in the jails of England and Ireland. It was a precedent that could not be established without undermining the very foundations of British authority in the territory that is under British dominion, however reluctant Ireland may be to acknowledge that rule.

"Americanize"

The angry mother who shot the teacher of her son in Chicago last Friday presents a situation that involves more for cure than the trial and punishment of the offender. Foreign in her birth and training, not understanding the law which she defied in keeping her son out of school, not knowing why she was brought into court and fined at the instigation of the teacher, knowing only that this young woman had brought against her the machinery of the law against which she was powerless to stand, living in that district in which the use of fire arms is not looked upon as anything out of the ordinary, she did what, perhaps, seemed to her the natural thing in the way of revenge.

This crime against the teacher and the children of the school in which it was committed must be punished, of course. But there should be some way by which her deed can be explained to her from the American point of view, some effort made to "Americanize" not only her but the members of her family and the district in which she lives.

Such incidents as this narrow escape from death on the part of a teacher, guilty of nothing but the performance of her duty, reveal the very great need for training of the aliens in those sections of great cities in which they are practically cut off from any intercourse with Americans in the standards of this country.

NAMED MANAGER

N. L. Towle, 420 Church street, Evanston, president of the T. & S. Tours company of Chicago, announces that the company has secured the services of H. L. Purdy, formerly division passenger agent of the Wabash railroad as manager of the company.

Mr. Purdy will have full charge of the management of the business and all affairs connected with it. The company feels that this change in

Neighbors! Just a Word Please! The Greatest Republican Since Abraham Lincoln

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT, on May 22, 1918, said of the Democratic Nominee for President:

"Governor Cox of Ohio is one of our great War Governors."

He will make a greater President for, like Roosevelt, he is vigorously AGGRESSIVE, PROGRESSIVE and PROFICIENT.

Thousands and thousands of forward looking men and women throughout the nation who owned allegiance to Col. Roosevelt, have gone over to Cox because they believe that his position on the League of Nations is the only one worth while.

THE ISSUE IS AS CLEAR AND LIMPID AS DAYLIGHT. If you are in favor of joining with the conscience and enlightenment of the world in an endeavor to repress war, to avoid the recurring scourge, to safeguard your children against the anguish and the bloody sweat of modern battle, you must be for the only League of Nations that there can be, the only League of Nations that there will be. YOU MUST BE FOR THE PARTY WHICH FAVORS THE LEAGUE HONESTLY AND OUTSPOKENLY AND THAT IS THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

In Illinois, the home of Lincoln and Grant and Douglas the issue is NOT Republicanism against Democracy but

THE Evanston Automobile Dealers' Association proposes to place the automobile business of Evanston on a plane of such character that each and every dealer will be known for his exceptional courtesy, integrity, fair treatment and expert mechanical service.

Several of our dealers have built such reputations among car owners that Chicago friends of these owners come to Evanston to buy cars and insist on having other Chicago friends try our shop work.

This confidence among car owners will now be earned by every member of our association, and we solicit your patronage on the basis of co-operation and "Service at Home."

As a matter of fact, it is impossible for Chicago dealers to give you the quality, the individual, personal prompt and efficient service obtainable in Evanston. Neither can you expect, in Chicago, the dealer interest you receive in Evanston when buying a car.

These points should be given consideration as we proceed to strengthen your desire to
