ROSALIND IVAN TO READ PLAYS FOR DRAMA LEAGUE

North Shore members of the Drama League will be interested in the announcement of a reading to be given Thursday, November 18, by Rosalind Ivan, the distinguished actress, under the auspices of the Chicago Centre. Miss Ivan is the author of several plays, and the translator of some notable works from the continental drama. Her translation of "Nju," by Ossip Djmov, has been played with great success in New York. It is another of her translations that she will read, the title of which is "The Brothers Karamazoy." It was written by Jacques Copeau, from the novel by Dostoevski.

The reading is at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and is open to members of the Drama league and their guests.

HORACE MANN FOOTBALL TEAM LOSE 12-6 TUSSELE

Horace Mann school and the Indian Hill gridiron teams battled on Thursday afternoon at the North Shore Country Day school field to a 12-6 victory for the group from the private school.

It was a thriller throughout and kept the numerous "kid" rooters in "hot water" continually. Dean and Stixrud, each with a touchdown to his credit, starred for the Indian Hill eleven while Levora, who scored the losers' lone marker, shared honors with Stover for the Horace Mann aggregation.
