

THE SEASON'S FILM SENSATION

VERA GORDON and GASTON GLASS in the Cosmopolitan Production "HUMORESQUE" A PARAMOUNT ARTCRAFT PICTURE

Fannie Hurst, who is noted for her realistic studies of Jewish life, never struck a more intensely human note than she attained in "Humoresque."

The Kantors are a poor Jewish family living on the lower East Side of New York City. The household consists of Abraham Kantor, his wife, and eight children.

Mr. Kantor leads his son away to a toy shop. Leon promptly loses his heart to a violin, which is marked $4.

When he tells Mama Kantor the story of Leon's actions, she bursts into sobs of Thanksgiving. Her dream of having a son with a soul for music have been realized.

Fifteen years later Leon is a recognized genius all over the world. He has played before eager audiences in both Europe and America.

Leon returns to New York and gives a concert in New York's biggest theater at popular prices—for his own people. The whole East Side turns out for the performance and Leon is given a huge ovation.

He parts tenderly with his mother and with Gina. Overseas he is wounded severely in the left shoulder. When he is once more in New York, in the hospital, the army doctor tell him that he will never be able to play the violin again.

Gina comes to him, begging him to marry her. He refuses and brushes her from him roughly—so roughly that she faints in the doorway.

WINNETKA AVIATOR DOES SOME "PLANE" TALKING

Captain Fraser Hale, Winnetka army aviator, in charge of an airplane squadron at Langley Field, was one of the principals in a unique demonstration, recently, when he, while flying over the course of the Potomac river, toward Hampton Roads, communicated with Secretaries Daniels and Baker, of President Wilson's cabinet, in a demonstration of the efficiency of the newly-developed telephone operated from airplanes.

The cabinet members accompanied about 150 delegates to the International Radio Commission down the river to Norfolk on the Mayflower and talked to the aviators flying over the vessel as she steamed down stream.

Captains Fraser and Walter Lawson of Langley Field were the officers in two fast planes who flew above the Mayflower and held telephonic communication with the men on the vessel several thousand feet below.

MRS. PLUMBER DEAD

The many friends of Mrs. John Dix Plumber were shocked Sunday to hear of the death of the former Winnetka resident at her home in Wilmette. Mrs. Plumber was a victim of pneumonia. Mrs. Plumber died Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock. Funeral services were held Tuesday, November 23, at Graceland chapel.

NO FIRES No fires were reported to the local fire department this week, according to Fire chief Houren.
