

DIAGNOSIS SCHOOL IS MADE PERMANENT

Government School For Diagnosis of Tuberculosis, For Illinois and Wisconsin Now In Operation

The school in the diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis for the states of Wisconsin and Illinois, established a number of months ago by the United States Public Health service and conducted under the direction of Dr. George Thomas Palmer, president of the Illinois Tuberculosis association, will be made a permanent institution with new classes to be received every six weeks. Dr. Palmer has been selected by the government to have entire charge of the school, including the selection of the teaching staff, the outlining of the course of instruction, etc. This announcement was made at the opening of the course now being conducted at Springfield which is the fifth course since the school was established.

For the time being, admission to the school is limited to the acting assistant surgeons and local medical examiners appointed by the Public Health service for the care of returned soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses; but it is stated that admission will eventually be granted to the general practitioners of the two states.

Dr. W. H. Waterson, of the Public Health service and recently tuberculosis expert for the Federal Board for Vocational Education, has been assigned to the Springfield school and will have supervision of instruction for all courses. The instruction is being given in the dispensary of the Springfield Tuberculosis association, in the laboratories of the State Department of Public Health and at the Homestead and the Springfield Open Air colony of the Palmer Tuberculosis sanatoria.

The teaching staff will consist of Dr. O. W. McMichael, of Chicago; Dr. Roswell T. Pettit, of Ottawa and Drs. Hermon H. Cole, Fred S. O'Hara and Thomas G. Hull, of Springfield and Miss Margaret Biggerstaff, supervisor of occupational therapy and vocational training in the Palmer sanatoria.

Logical Location

The selection of Springfield for this government school is said to have been due to the unusual clinical and teaching facilities available. Within the past few years, Springfield has become perhaps the most important tuberculosis center between the Allegheny and the Rocky mountains. It is the headquarters of the Illinois Tuberculosis association, one of the most active state tuberculosis organizations in the United States and there are here situated three well-known tuberculosis sanatoria, St. John's Sanatorium, a Catholic institution and the Homestead and the Springfield Open Air colony, which are under the one management and are known collectively as the Palmer Tuberculosis Sanatorium. As the state capital, Springfield is also the center of the activities of the Division of Tuberculosis of the State Department of Public health which has much to do with shaping the policies of the fifty county tuberculosis sanatoria, provision for which has been made during the past three years.

During the present week, Dr. W. G. Witte, supervisor for the United States Public Health service for the states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois and Dr. Paul G. Dick, in charge of tuberculosis work for the same district, are visiting Springfield attending the course on instruction and inspecting the various institutions.
