

NORTH SHORE PLAYERS START LITTLE THEATER

Initial Performances of Newest North Shore Dramatic Club Scheduled for Tonight at Wilmette Club House

Tonight at the Wilmette Woman's club, will be the official opening of the North Shore Players with three one-act plays, "The Maker of Dreams", "Suppressed Desires", and "Grangoire" on the bill. The north shore will have reason to be proud of this group of young artists if the communities will support them and encourage them to remain together. Several of the players to be seen this week are or have been professionals, and, with the exception of one or two, all of them intend to make the stage their work. It is, therefore, with some little excitement that the opening night is awaited, for the first performance of this Little Theater group is promised to be an artistic success.

Of the cast of the "Maker of Dreams" probably Ralph R. Bellamy is the best known to the north shore. Mr. Bellamy is portraying the manufacturer and, it is said, will give an artistic performance. It will be remembered that he played the very bashful Englishman in "Miss Bob White" last fall. George Shipman and Miss Phillis Ogan play Pierrot and Pierrette, respectively.

In the cast of "Grangoire" Harlan Ware, last season of the Wales Players, one-time dramatic reader on Chautauqua, will portray the title role. Mr. Ware is well known to the north shore having appeared here many times in many different roles and his work is a promised treat. The cast includes also, Miss Evelyn Segsworth whose presentation of a very difficult character in the New Trier production of "If I Were King" created a lot of favorable comment. Miss Segsworth is a young artist of power, whose characters are always a perfect little portrait. Montgomery Major, who needs no introduction but who, it is recalled, wrote the "Horn of Rollizan" which was recently presented, and played King Louis in "If I Were King", will play again the character of Louis. Miss Marcia Lauer, James Gibson and David Levy complete the cast.

The cast of "Suppressed Desires" is one which, it is said, the North Shore Players defy any persons to equal in any Little Theater in the country. Everett Fox, a Northwestern student and an actor of great promise and much experience, will play the henpecked husband. Miss Elizabeth Duffy, who is well known in and about Chicago as a dramatic reader, and whose work is always artistic is to give a fine characterization in the part of Mabel. Miss Mary Ricksen, formerly with William Rock and the National Stock company, plays the wife. This play is clever and the cast is unusually good.

The Players, it is said, are not worrying about support, for the north shore usually responds to artists who do their best. That the audience will get its money's worth there is no doubt for the talent of the north shore—and the very best of it—is combining to provide an enjoyable evening.

Earl Fox is conductor of the orchestra of about fifteen pieces which is preparing to entertain with the Players. Mr. Fox is exceptionally well fitted for the rather difficult task he has, for he, himself, is an exceptionally good violinist who has, most probably, a future on the concert stage.

The tickets for this first performance are on sale now at the drug stores of the north shore.

POPULAR PLAY "HONEY" REPEATED HERE MAY 11

"Honey", a play by Mary Middleton, presented recently before a group of Winnetka women by members of the Community Drama club, and which met with exceptional approval on that occasion, is to be repeated Wednesday evening, May 11, before a public audience at Community House. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

"Honey" is the child of a mountain family which has come to live in a factory town. There are heart-throbs and happy situations which, it is said, are enjoyed by both young and old playgoers.

The cast includes Mrs. Taliaferro O. Milton, Mrs. John Marshall, Mrs. Sherman Goble, Mrs. Delbert Poff, Mrs. Dwight Green, Mrs. Vernon Welch. Proceeds from the play will serve to complete a fund to be directed to the support of an honor student at the University of Chicago, who is sponsored by the Woman's society of the Winnetka Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hoyt and Miss Josephine Landon, have returned from their winter home in Florida and are now occupying their residence at 550 Sheridan road, for the summer.
