

This Lake Bluff Fellow Issues a Mean Challenge

F. H. Young of Lake Bluff, felt particularly youthful Wednesday when appearing in Magistrate Mickey's Wilmette Speeder's court, he issued a formal and energetic challenge to one Peter Schaeffer, motorcycle policeman, to appear in the village of Lake Bluff at his own convenience and to choose his weapons.

However there is reason to believe that Young intended calling upon certain of his townsmen to assume an active part in the proposed reception, when one considers carefully the tone of his concluding remarks to-wit, "I'll see that you get soaked good."

Young was arrested on a charge of speeding Tuesday evening when encountered by Schaeffer on Sheridan road at Elmwood avenue. Schaeffer ticked him off at 35 miles per. Young was assessed $15 and costs. All of which prompted the invitation so graciously extended to our sterling motor cop, who, be it said to his credit, "kept his peace," greeting the enraged one with a beaming and almost pitying smile.

FORMER WILMETTE LEADER IS NAMED N. W. U. TRUSTEE

Mrs. Carl R. Latham, formerly a prominent social and club leader of Wilmette, who now resides at the North Shore hotel, Evanston, was recently elected to the Northwestern University Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Latham graduated from Northwestern University, college of Liberal Arts in 1892, and goes to the Board of Trustees as a representative of the alumni body of that institution.

BEWARE

Reports have reached the offices of the Weekly Talk that bogus magazine subscription solicitors are canvassing the village exacting payments in advance from prospective customers, the subscribers never having received the magazines for which they paid. Women solicitors have been the most prevalent violators in this particular type of fraud.

Woman Found Dead In Bedroom of Home

Mrs. Mary Martik of Gross Point Strangled to Death by Rope, Attached to Bedpost

Mrs. Mary Martik, 65 years old, of Gross Point, was found dead on the floor of her home at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank Placek. Mrs. Martik had been strangled to death by a rope fastened about her neck and secured to a bedpost.

Mrs. Martik, according to relatives retired at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. Thinking the aged woman was ill when she failed to reappear from her room in the morning, Mrs. Placek investigated, finding the body lying on the floor at the side of the bed. A physician called to the home, declared the woman had been dead for 12 hours.

It was said that Mrs. Martik had been in ill health for several months and suffered spells of despondency. She had been a resident of Gross Point only 9 months and was not well known in the village as she was confined to her home during most of that period.

An inquest was held at the home Thursday morning.

Expert Automobile Repairs

There are many ways of repairing an automobile. One of them, and a common one, is to start taking a car apart to find out what is the matter with it. This is not the method we employ. In our shop there is a man who is an expert at diagnosis of motor trouble. Fifteen minutes with any make of car and he can direct his mechanics to the seat of the trouble.

This does two things, and saves two things, time and money. There is no useless, needless labor bills sent our patrons. They pay and pay well for what they get, but they get what they came in for, efficient repairs.

Engine repairs, body and axle work, differential inspections, radiator soldering and general repair, welding and straightening of bent and broken frames and parts, in short anything that could possibly be the matter with your car can be handled here.
