

INDIAN HILL ASS'N MEETING NOVEMBER 7

Citizens in Southeast Winnetka Plan to Consider Many Important Community Questions Monday Evening

NEW OFFICERS IN CHARGE

Committee Memberships to be Named; Business Session Followed by Social Hour and Dancing

The Indian Hill Improvement association will renew its fall activities at its second meeting of the season, to be held at the New Trier high school, Monday evening, November 7, at 8 o'clock.

The recently elected officers will assume their duties and membership of the various committees will be announced. Walter E. Shoemaker was elected President of the association at the last meeting for the forthcoming year, W. R. English, vice president, and F. M. Root, secretary and treasurer.

Boost Park Project

The association was very successful in its efforts last year in developing ways and means of improving the southeast section of Winnetka. Perhaps the most important of its activities was the sponsoring of a station park opposite the Indian Hill station. This park now appears to be an assured fact and that it is, largely due to the active efforts of the Indian Hill Improvement association in backing up the movement. A number of other matters of importance will come before the association for its consideration during the new season, and the officers are endeavoring to list the full co-operation of all residents in the Indian Hill district.

At the coming meeting, the social side will not be neglected. As has heretofore been the policy, some of the neighborhood talent will be called upon to assist in making the evening enjoyable, and refreshments and dancing will follow the business session.

LEGION TO PLANT MEMORIAL TREES HERE ARMISTICE DAY

Motion pictures depicting battle scenes of the World War will provide the principal entertainment for the Winnetka Post of the American Legion Friday evening, November 11, when the post members meet in Community House for a special dinner Celebration of Armistice Day.

Under direction of Legion Commander Snell the post members will plant memorial trees on Armistice Day on Waukegan Road north of Willow street. The trees have been donated by Thomas J. Lynch, village forester, and a member of the local post, and George Thomas of the Chicago Landscape company.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Hill and Stone, Winnetka realtors, this week announced recent property transfer including vacant property on Walnut avenue between Elm and Oak streets, adjoining the Dick residence, purchased by Morris Leigh, who will build a home on the site. Another transfer is the purchase of vacant property on Walden Road by W. W. Geary, of Carson, Pirie and Scott, adjoining property in which Mr. Geary is now building an attractive residence.

BOOK PAYS TRIBUTE TO LIEUT. MC CORDIC

Wilson G. Crosby Honors Winnetka War Hero; Book Brings Letters of Praise to Aviator's Parents

By J. W. F. Davies

A beautiful tribute to Lieut. Fletcher Ladd McCordic, one of Winnetka's boys, has recently been published by Wilson G. Crosby. It is an unusually fine piece of work. The mechanical get-up of the book is without criticism, and the insight into the life of a boy who was unusually "so quiet" is a surprise to those who knew him only casually. Through his letters and more through the letters which came into the hands of his father and mother after his death, one begins to realize what a wonderful, strong character Fletcher was. Not only was he spoken of as the best pilot in the squadron, with apparently no jealousy on the part of any of his fellow officers or men, but he was also a strong moral character. He raised the moral standard of the group he was with no matter whether officers or men. Continual reference is made to him as a most lovable, good natured man and admiration expressed for his flying ability and his eagerness to undertake any task no matter how hard or dangerous.

Book at Library

Upon request Mr. McCordic is placing a copy of this book in the Winnetka Public Library and it will strengthen any ones faith in men to read through this unusual tribute which is bringing to Mr. and Mrs. McCordic some of the most wonderful letters that it is possible for any one to receive regarding their boy. As the commanding officer of the 88th Aero Squadron said in a letter to Mr. McCordic, "Had he, single-handed, put the entire German army to rout I am perfectly certain that he would have returned to the air-drome and written in the squadron log, 'Nothing to report.'"

"I think none of us can look back on 'The General' (as Fletcher was called) without a feeling of reverence and awe. Brave to the point of fearlessness, loyal, devoted, unselfish, cheerful, efficient, and modest to the utmost limit, he was the Bayard of the 88th, 'sans peur et sans reproche'." Not without pride can a Winnetkan hear these words of one of her sons.

CORRECTION

A report in last week's issue of the Winnetka Talk announcing the sale of the Richard W. Walsh home at 1170 Scott avenue, to Marlowe Merrick, was incorrect. The Talk was incorrectly informed in the matter by a local realty dealer.

"DROP IN NIGHT"

Last Friday night a pleasant company spent the evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. James Austin Richards, at their first "Drop In Night." They hope to announce a number of other "Drop In Nights", evenings when anybody may call with the assurance of finding them in.

BANKS CLOSED NOV. 11

The Winnetka State Bank and the Winnetka Trust and Savings Bank will be closed all day Friday, November 11, in observance of Armistice Day.

SHOW FILM OF GREAT BIBLE STORY SUNDAY

"Out of the 'House of Bondage'", Visualizing Story of Exodus, Shows Tomorrow at Winnetka Community House

This Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium of Community House a motion picture entitled "Out of the House of Bondage" will be shown.

"Out of the House of Bondage" is a Bible story told in a modern way; its theme, the vital and vivid one of the Exodus," says the magazine Visual Education. "Few producers realize that in the great stories of the Bible there is dramatic material, infinite in its possibilities of variety and appeal. What figure could be more spectacular, for instance, than the one that looms through the dusk of antiquity as the rescuer of an oppressed people, the preserver of a nation's identity? Every moment of the life of Moses is dramatic from the time he was cradled on the waters of the Nile to the hour he died alone, within sight of the promised land. From the courts of Pharaoh to the burning sands of Midian, from the lowly home in Israel to an immortal place in history—there is indeed material for drama!

"The picture is comprehensive as to action and accurate in detail. The character of the events is such as to invite melodrama, but the temptation is avoided and the treatment is most delicate and reserved. The settings are carefully planned and the producer has made the atmosphere of ancient Egypt very real. The types are well selected, especially that of the Jewish mother.

"A picture like this is a valuable addition to the meager supply of Biblical films. It does more than merely tell a story—it maintains a feeling of delicacy and reverence for the events it pictures."

Everybody is cordially invited. No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken to help defray the expenses.

Who Pays the Bill?

If a banker lent money to anyone who asked for it, he'd have to make the honest people pay a high enough interest to cover his losses from the dishonest.

That is exactly what the ordinary insurance company does. Your premium covers the high margin of loss that results from promiscuous insuring.

We insure character, first and foremost. That is why we can offer more protection at lower cost than most companies.
